FATE OF WHITE'S SLAYER WILL SOON BE WITH THE JURY

EXPERT IS BARRED; ALL TESTIMONY IN

A Verdict in Trial is Expected by Next Wednesday, If Summing Up is Reasonable

THE BELIEF GROWS IN A DISAGREEMENT

New York, April 8—A verdict in the Thaw case may be reached by Wednesday night.

When the trial was resumed today Justice Fitzgerald overruled District Attorney Jerome's formal protest against the confirmation of the report of the commission in lunacy which declared Thaw sane. The justice signed the report and ordered that the trial proceed.

Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton was called as the last witness, but the district attorney objected to his testifying at this stage of the case. The objection was sustained and then both the defense and the people announced that they rested.

Delmas Begins Speech.

Mr. Delmas began his summing up address at 2 p. m., the jury having been excused until that hour to get their personal affairs in shape. Beginning this afternoon the jurors will be confined until the end of the trial.

Mr. Delmas said he might conclude his speech tonight. If he does so Mr. Jerome will speak tomorrow. If Mr. Delmas should not finish until tomorrow, however, the district attorney will not begin his address until Wednesday morning. Justice Fitzgerald is expected to charge the jury the same day Mr. Jerome closes.

Court Room Crowded.

It was a moment of intense dramatic interest when Mr. Delmas, shortly after court had convened at 2 o'clock this afternoon, arose to begin his appeal to the jury for the life of Harry K. Thaw. The court room was crowded to the last available inch of space by those fortunate to get inside to hear the "Napoleonic" advocate from the far west coast, whose fame as an advocate had proceeded his fresh fame gained in conduct of the Thaw trial. All who have in any way been interested directly in the case were present and a very large contingent of lawyers was present to hear Mr. Delmas in what it was anticipated would be the greatest effort of his life before a jury.

Disagreement Looked For.

With the trial finished, save for the summing up, the belief that the jury will disagree is growing among those who have followed the case since its beginning. The trial has been the longest and most costly ever held in New York, and Justice Fitzgerald will not allow the jury to be discharged until it is certain that there is no chance of their agreeing. Even if they do announce a disagreement he will, without doubt, send them back to the jury room again and keep them there as long as there is the slightest chance of their reaching an agreement. A disagreement would mean that Thaw would be obliged to remain in the Tombs until his regular turn came again, probably until late in the fall.

Family Early In Court.

When the Thaw trial opened this morning it was believed that it had at last entered on its final week. Eleven weeks already had been consumed in the trial, making it the longest in the history of New York's criminal courts.

Harry Thaw's family were early in court and took the seats they have occupied on all occasions when they have been allowed in the court room. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw wore the familiar blue suit and the black sailor hat which several days ago replaced the

DELPHINE M. DELMAS.

ISLE OF PINES NOT THE PROPERTY OF UNCLE SAM

Supreme Court Says it Was Not Acquired by Peace Treaty at Paris.

Washington, April 8.—That the "Isle of Pines is not American territory was officially and judicially declared today by the supreme court of the United States. The decision was rendered in the case of Edward J. Percy vs. Nevada N. Stranahan, collector of the port at New York, and the opinion of the court was announced by Chief Justice Fuller, who said that up to the Paris treaty, the Isle of Pines had been considered as an integral part of Cuba and it would not be held to be covered by article two of that treaty which included only islands in the vicinity of Porto Rico.

The case originated in connection with the importation of a few boxes of cigars by Pearcy in September, 1903, but its hearing by the court was from time to time postponed in the hope that the status of the island might be definitely fixed by legislation or diplomacy. The cigars were made in the Isle of Pines of tobacco grown there and when they arrived, Pearcy refused to pay duty on the ground that they were of domestic origin. The collector thereupon seized them and Pearcy appealed to the United States circuit court, where he secured no reply, as that court sustained a demurrer filed by the government and dismissed the case. He promptly brought the case to the supreme court by which today the decree of the lower court was affirmed.

The case was No. 1 on the supreme court docket.

Decision in Broker's Case.

In an opinion by Justice McKenna, the supreme court of the United States today affirmed the decision of the United States circuit court for the western district of Tennessee in the case of Charles P. Hunt, a cotton broker of Memphis, Tenn., against the New York cotton exchange. The suit was brought in the circuit court by the exchange to secure an injunction against Hunt prohibiting him from receiving or using its quotation, contrary to the regulations of the exchange, and the injunction was granted by that court as prayed for.

Street Railway Case Ruling.

On the joint request of John P. Wilson, representing the Chicago City Railway company, and J. Hamilton Lewis, representing the city of Chicago, the decision of the United States circuit court for the northern district of Illinois, in the case of the city against the company, involving the question of street car transfers in Chicago, was today reversed by the supreme court of the United States and remanded to the trial court with directions to proceed in accordance with the law as expounded by the court in other cases.

HONDURAN CITIES IN POSSESSION OF NICARAGUA

Ceiba and Puerto Cortez Have Fallen and No Blood Spilled.

Mobile, Ala., April 8.—Advices received here today from Commander William F. Fullam, of the United States gunboat Marietta, via steamer Colombia, just arrived, say that Ceiba was taken on the evening of April 3 by the Nicaraguan army, now in command of Commander-in-Chief Estrada and General Manuel Letta, the latter a brother of Policarpo Bonilla.

Ceiba was taken without a shot being fired. After taking Ceiba the Nicaraguan forces left for Puerto Cortez on board the gunboat Ometappe, a gasoline launch and a small gunboat. They were preceded to Cortez by the Marietta to protect the American interests. It had been agreed between Commander Estrada, of the Nicaraguan forces, and Commander Fullam, of the Marietta, that Puerto Cortez should not be bombarded. Cable advices received here say that Puerto Cortez is now in the hands of the Nicaraguan forces, and it is believed Commander-in-Chief Ordenaz, in charge of the Honduran forces at Puerto Cortez, surrendered, although it was said by passengers arriving here on the steamer Colombia from Ceiba that General Ordenaz had refused to surrender and would fight to the last ditch.

In a message to the master of the Colombia, Commander Fullam, of the Marietta, says that the Nicaraguan forces had promised not to bombard Cortez and that he believed there would be no resistance. He said that the Nicaraguans claimed that a new regime would be established on the Honduran coast immediately, and that both sides to the controversy understand that it is for their interest to let foreigners alone.

PLENTY OF GOOD MEN FOR PRESIDENT SAYS TED

President and Senator Scott Have a Talk—Riis Has a Fresh Word.

Washington, April 8.—"The president and I are the best of friends. Nothing better." These words were uttered by Senator Scott, of West Virginia, after he had had a long talk about political matters with the chief executive today.

Senator Scott's remarks were made after a reference of a published story that his name had been mentioned as one of those who had been present at a dinner when the "anti-Roosevelt" plot had been divulged. The senator declared that he was not at any such dinner and then uttered the words referred to and asked that they be given publicity.

Plenty of Good Men for President.

"Yes the president and I talked about the presidential nomination," said Senator Scott, in answer to a further question. "The president said," proceeded the senator, "that there were any amount of men who would make good presidents."

Jacob Riis, who is returning east from the Pacific coast, also talked with the president today. He declared that the president meant what he said on the night of the election in 1904, that he would not accept another nomination for the presidency. Mr. Riis said he took the president at his word. All the president wants, said Mr. Riis, is to see that his policies are carried through.

Assure Roosevelt of Support.

Telegrams and letters continue to be received by the president bearing on the disclosures made at the white house regarding the "combination" to defeat the president's policies. They assure the president of support in his fight. Other than this there were no additional facts in connection with the political situation made public at the white house.

Speaker Cannon, who has just returned from a visit to the isthmian canal zone, had a long talk with the president today. "I have not the slightest uneasiness as to the successful completion of the water way in a reasonable time," said the speaker. "The work is getting along nicely now."

The speaker declined to say whether he talked politics with the president.

Other White House Callers.

Governor-elect Hoke Smith, of Georgia, who is en route to New York from where he will sail for Europe, called at the white house today with several friends to pay their respects to the president.

Mr. Smith was asked for an expression on national politics and made the following response:

"The next president has got to be a man who represents the interests of the masses of the people."

The Modern American Fraternal order will give a tea at the home of Mrs. J. H. Foster, 492 West Jefferson street, on Wednesday afternoon. Supper will be served from 4 to 7 o'clock. Mrs. Foster will be assisted by Mesdames Terry, Hays, Bigstone, Knuthe, Haudenschild and Gocke.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO WRECK A TRAIN

Switch Thrown on Cleveland Branch of Pennsylvania in Which Freight Almost Dashed

REPEATED CRIMES STIR THE OFFICIALS

Alliance, O., April 8.—An attempt was made early today to wreck a fast freight on the Cleveland and Pittscompany within 500 yards of the station here, when the engineer of the train saw the signal for a clear track suddenly thrown to red. The emergency brakes were applied and the train was brought to a standstill in time to avoid crashing into the open switch. A man who evidently opened the switch, ran from the track and disappeared. It is suspected that the would-be train wrecker is one of the gang responsible for the derailment of the Cleveland-Pittsburg flyer at Hudson, Ohio, Saturday night.

ANOTHER TRAIN WRECKED.

Army of Detectives at Work to Solve Mystery of Devilry.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 8.—Officials of the Pennsylvania railroad settled down in earnest yesterday to run to earth the gang of train wreckers which in the last two months has made several attempts to destroy fast passenger trains on the company's lines.

After a thorough investigation yesterday of the attempt made Saturday night to wreck the Pittsburg-Cleveland express at Hudson, O., the officials declared themselves satisfied that the outrage had been committed by the same man or men who at least three times before had almost succeeded in accomplishing the complete wreck of a heavily laden passenger train.

Rewards aggregating $10,500 have been offered for the capture of the wreckers and a special reward of $2,500 for information leading to the arrest within the next twenty-four hours of those responsible for Saturday night's attempt at Hudson.

McCrea Calls Emergency Council.

It is probable that these rewards will be increased and more drastic steps taken today. President McCrea has called to Pittsburg every divisional superintendent east and west to discuss measures for safe-guarding the lives of the company's passengers and to lay elaborate plans for the capture of the wreckers.

Since the beginning of February the following accidents, now believed to have been deliberately caused, have occurred on the Pennsylvania lines:

Feb. 20—The eighteen hour flyer, westbound between New York and Chicago, wrecked at Mineral Point. Every passenger on train injured.

March 23—The Manhattan limited, eastbound, derailed between Wilmerding and Stewart station. Sixteen passengers injured.

March 27—The Keystone express, eastbound, derailed between East Pittsburg and Turtle Point.

March 27—The Chicago express, westbound, flagged just in time to prevent it from running on to broken track.

April 6—The Cleveland flyer, running between Pittsburg, Pa., and Cleveland, O., wrecked at Hudson, O.

Other Fast Trains Stoned.

In addition to these wrecks a dozen of the fast passenger trains have been stoned by unknown persons between Pittsburg and Greensburg. In several of the bombardments passengers were badly hurt. The frequent and deliberate wrecking of its fastest passenger trains has so thoroughly alarmed the officials of the railroad that at the present time every foot of track along the main line between here and Altoona is patrolled by armed guards who

NEW YORK FIRE COST ONE LIFE AND A BIG LOSS

Fire Captain Perishes in Car Barn Blaze—Loss is $1,500,000.

New York, April 8.—Fire early today destroyed the combined car barn and power plant of the New York City Railway company, covering the greater part of the block bounded by Lenox avenue and One Hundred and Forty-seventh street and Seventh avenue. The loss will reach $1,500,000. More than 300 cars were burned and the plant, except for the electrical department, was destroyed.

One fireman, Captain J. Ryan, was killed under a falling wall and half a dozen firemen and others were more or less seriously injured. The injured are:

Frederick J. Leopold, assistant engine foreman; William Symes, fireman; Anthony Morse, car inspector; Thomas Francis, spectator; James Cannon, laborer; Mrs. Mary Lawson, overcome by smoke.

None of the injured is in a dangerous condition.

The fire started in the big repair room where a large number of cars were stored and spread through the whole building with great rapidity. Captain Ryan's engine with his crew and the crews of two other engines were working in an alley outside the building when an explosion in the paint room on the fourth floor ripped out the west wall, sending tons of brick down on the firemen, carrying down the fire escapes on the rear of a row of flat houses, and burying half a dozen firemen in the ruins.

A hundred men with picks and shovels at once set to work to dig their comrades out of the ruins while scores of others turned their attention to the flat houses to which the fire had spread. Captain Ryan was the first man taken from the heap of debris by the rescuers. He was horribly crushed but still alive when taken out and laid on the ground in the driving rain. There a priest knelt by his side and administered the last sacraments of the church a moment before Ryan died. One by one the other firemen were dug out and hurried away to hospitals. In the meantime the fire in the car barn had practically burned itself out and the flat houses in the rear had been damaged to the extent of $25,000. Three hundred open or summer cars valued at $5,000 each, which had been stored in the barn, were destroyed.

NORTH INDIANA M. E. CONFERENCE AT LOGANSPORT

Sixty-Fourth Session Will Begin Next Wednesday —Ends 15th Inst.

Logansport, Ind., April 8.—The sixty-fourth session of the North Indiana Methodist Episcopal church conference will meet here on Wednesday. William F. McDowell, of Chicago, will be the presiding bishop. The presiding elders of the various districts to be represented are: Fort Wayne district, C. U. Wade; Richmond, T. M. Guild; Goshen, H. W. Bennett, Wabash, E. L. Semans; Muncie, L. J. Naftzger; Logansport, H. N. Herrick.

The official days of the conference are from April 10 to April 15 inclusive.

WILL END COURT MARTIAL.

Veterans Go to Kendallville for Final Session Tomorrow.

Capt. W. A. Kelsey, I. N. Medsker, Capt. Isaac d'Isay and J. E. Graham, Fort Wayne members of the G. A. R. who are serving on the court martial which is hearing the case against two members of Nelson post at Kendallville, charged with improper conduct in the expulsion of Capt. G. P. Alexander from membership, will go to Kendallvile tomorrow for a final hearing in the case. The court martial will then render its decision, but as it is made to the department commander, it will in all probability not become public for some time.

AGED MAN STILL UNCONSCIOUS

Roused Long Enough to Locate His Home and Then Relapsed.

Kansas City, Mo., April 8.—T. C. Webster, the aged man who was taken unconscious from an eastbound train here a week ago today, and removed to the City hospital, recovered sufficiently last night to say his home is at Horse Shoe Bend, Idaho, and that he has a wife and three children there. He said his last act which he remembered was boarding a train at Cheyenne, Wyo., for Kansas City Webster soon again lapsed into a condition of semi-consciousness, from which he was not aroused today. He was on his way to Gainesville, Ga., when stricken.

SESSLER PERSEVERES IN STORY OF A STRAY PISTOL BALL

Says He Was Shot by Accident and Has the Police Guessing.

Fred H. Sessler, a brakeman employed on the Wabash and living at 319 Grand street, has the police guessing as he maintains that a pistol wound in his right groin was caused by a stray shot fired by one of a crowd of men who were quarreling as he was on his way home about 11 o'clock Saturday night.

The affair occurred on Grand street a short distance from Harrison and nearly two hours later Sessler went to Dr. Kaadt's office on Brackenridge street, where the wound was temporarily dressed, after which he went to Hope hospital where he was a patient today. Detective Lenz spent an hour with him Sunday and saw him again today, but he could get no further information out of him on the subject.

He was in company with "Brick" Crawford at the time and the latter has not been about his usual haunts since. Thirty minutes before the shooting took place Sessler was talking to a Wabash switchman at the Calhoun street crossing and at that time was perfectly sober. As a matter of fact he has the reputation of being a sober young man and Yardmaster Dennis Hayes has only the best to say of him. He has been switching in the yards for five months.

A Rumor Afloat.

Detective Lenz got a pointer this afternoon that the ball was intended for Sessler and that it was fired in a fight as he entered a house but this is based only on rumor and there have been no developments to substantiate. A barber who works in a shop on Grand street says that when he went home, about 11 o'clock, some men were "chewing the rag" between some cars in the Wabash yards but he heard no shots fired. C. G. Braun, who keeps a saloon at Harrison and Grand streets says he was in his place for half an hour after he closed up, at 11 o'clock, and is under the impression that he heard a shot as he went up stairs to go to bed. He was not certain about it, however, and gave it no attention at the time.

The police put little faith in Sessler's story from the fact that he made no report at headquarters and only current rumor on the streets yesterday brought the shooting to the knowledge of the department. When he was asked about this he declined to talk, saying his leg hurt him. Yesterday morning Dr. Kaadt got the bullet out of the back of Sessler's leg. It was either of thirty-two or thirty-eight calibre and

REPORT SHOWS CHURCH IN AN EXCELLENT CNODITION

Synopsis of What Will Be Laid Before Conference at Logansport.

Rev. C. U. Wade, presiding elder of the Fort Wayne district, in his annual report to the Northern Indiana Conference, which will be in session at Logansport this week, will have several matters of much importance to convey to that body. Special reference will be made to the state of the finances of the district, which are in a very satisfactory and encouraging condition, and also to the large number of members added to the rolls at the various churches in the district.

During the last year three deaths have occurred in the parsonages: Mary Hill, daughter of Rev. Hill, of Bluffton; Mrs. Nethercut, wife of Rev. M. E. Nethercut, of the Wayne Street M. E. church of this city, and Mrs. Bertha Pittinger, wife of Rev. Pittinger, of Coesse. There are 92 Sunday schools with a total membership of 12,000, showing an increase in numbers of more than 1,000 during the year. There are 74 Senior and Junior Epworth leagues in the conference, 43 Woman's Missionary societies and 92 churches in the district. More than 1,200 persons were converted and united themselves with the church.

There has been a substantial increase in the salaries of the pastors which have, or will all be paid, in full before the ministers relinquish their respective charges. There has been expended in building new churches, parsonages and other buildings appertaining to the church $20,500, a sum in itself arguing very strongly for the healthful condition of the finances of the district. The sum of $12,000 has been paid on the old church debt. One new church was purchased in the Geneva circuit.

In submitting this report to the annual conference Rev. Wade can demonstrate that he has been a careful and faithful steward of the property of the church, and that under his care the influence of the institutions committed to his charge has increased wonderfully. That a large sum of money has been expended for improving the church property, a sum nearly as large applied in liquidation of the church debt, and new and earnest members added to the congregations throughout the district.

Harry C. Stopher is in Chicago attending a meeting of the managers and general agents of the Equitable Life Insurance society. Representatives of the society from Indiana, Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin will be in attendance. President Paul Morton will entertain the delegates at a banquet at the Auditorium Annex this evening.

blue one trimmed with violets, which she wore during the early days of the trial.

She occupied a seat on the isle. Next to her sat Mrs. William Thaw, the countess of Yarmouth and Edward Thaw. In the front row of seats were Mr. and Mrs. George L. Carnegie and Josiah Thaw.

Justice Fitzgerald was a few minutes late in taking the bench.

When he did so and before the jury had been brought into the room District Attorney Jerome arose and said he would formally ask that the report of the commission in lunacy which declared Thaw sane be not confirmed. He had no argument to offer.

Orders Trial to Proceed.

Justice Fitzgerald reached for the commission's report, which lay on his desk, and signed his name across it.

"The trial will proceed," he ordered.

The jury then filed into the box and Harry Thaw was called to the bar.

Mr. Delmas, of counsel for the defense, asked the clerk to call Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton, the alienist, who was on the stand when the trial was interrupted more than two weeks ago. Mr. Delmas wanted to get from Dr. Hamilton the opinion that Thaw was insane when he shot and killed Stanford White.

As soon as Dr. Hamilton was seated in the witness chair, District Attorney Jerome objected. He said Dr. Hamilton should have been called as a witness for the defense in its direct case. To call him in sur-rebuttal, he declared, meant the re-opening of the entire case.

Court Rules Witness Out.

Justice Fitzgerald sustained the objection.

After he had done so, Mr. Delmas argued that Dr. Hamilton should be allowed to testify for the reason that District Attorney Jerome had on the last day of trial said he would withdraw his objection if Dr. Hamilton was allowed to tell everything.

"We accepted that offer," said Mr. Delmas, "and therefore feel we have the right to proceed under the agreement."

"The court, as I understand the law," said Justice Fitzgerald, "has no discretion in the matter. There was no occasion to rule on the question when it came up before. Had it come up at that time I would have been forced to rule as I rule now. The objection is sustained."

Both Sides Rest Case.

After a moment's consultation with the other attorneys Mr. Delmas said, "the defense rests."

"The people rest," said Mr. Jerome.

Justice Fitzgerald said he desired that the taking of testimony should cease and expressed satisfaction at the announcements. He then stated that in view of the importance of the case he thought it would be necessary to keep the jury together until the close of the trial. He therefore ordered that the jury be confined under the same conditions as at the beginning of the trial. Mr. Jerome suggested that as this would be something of a hardship on the jurors, who had had no notice of it, they should be allowed to go until 2 o'clock, in order to arrange their affairs.

This Justice Fitzgerald agreed to and a recess until 2 o'clock was ordered.

Justice Fitzgerald asked the attorneys to submit to him in writing any requests they might have to make as to his charge to the jury.

Mr. Delmas announced that he would begin his summing up address at 2 o'clock.

No Limit as to Time.

District Attorney Jerome asked if he could be given an idea of the time the defense would require.

"In a case of this character," said Mr. Delmas, "when the testimony has been so voluminous and where there have been so many interruptions, I deem it my duty to refresh the minds of the jurors as to the testimony so far as possible. It may take two or three or four hours to do this. If my remarks are not concluded tonight and I find it necessary to intrude into tomorrow's session, I shall agree to an adjournment until the next day to meet the district attorney's request that he be allowed a day to himself in which to make an uninterrupted address."

"The court is powerless to determine how long Mr. Delmas will require," said Justice Fitzgerald, who then informed the jurors that after 2 o'clock they would be kept together until the end is reached.

A Spectacular Moment.

One of the spectacular moments in the Thaw trial was that in which Delphin Michael Delmas rose to address the jury for the defense. It was his final plea to the twelve men who are to pass on the fate of Harry K. Thaw and no stage-setting could have been better set than were the surroundings in which the attorney found himself when, with a bow to the court and to the jury, he began an argument that promised to be as interesting as any of the many sensational features that have marked the development of this trial. The court room was packed to the doors and scores of eager men and women were barred because of the limited number of available seats.

Every member of the Thaw family and most of the alienists who have testified either for or against the defense were present. A good many lawyers who have been waiting for this opportunity to hear the widely-heralded pleader from the Pacific coast, were also on hand, and every one of the three hundred spectators followed closely the words of the lawyear.

Delmas Begins His Appeal.

Before nodding to Mr. Delmas to begin, Justice Fitzgerald ordered the court attendants to maintain perfect order.

Mr. Delmas began his appeal to the jury by quoting from an utterance of District Attorney Jerome, during the trial. He said:

"'We have no right, if the real facts were known, to be here trying this man, and would be absolutely prohibited by the statutes.'

"Had you heard these words," continued the attorney, "from some irresponsible babbler instead of from an official charged with a great public duty, had they been spoken in a place where idle men resort to indulge in idle talk instead of a tribunal wherein justice presided in solemnity; had the occasion on which they were uttered been some trivial discussion on some insignificant topic instead of a debate, the issue of which is life or death, and had you after so hearing them, heard the same lips make an appeal to prove that the law demanded forfeit of the life of the man about whom they were spoken, these words might not have filled you with amazement.

No Appeal to Unwritten Law.

"It is to prevent such a conclusion in this case," went on Mr. Delmas, "that I have undertaken the performance of the onerous task before me. In this task it will be my duty to give you all the help in my power in deciding the question before you.

"In the performance of my task, it is perhaps not proper to say that I shall make no attempt to influence your passions, no attempt to make your sympathies overbalance your judgment. I shall not call on such a flimsy thing as the 'unwritten law.' This defendant finds his justification in the written law, in the statutes of this state. In the written law he finds it necessary to protect his life and his liberty.

"In the performance of my duty it will be necessary for me to refer to the dead. I will do so in all respect possible, but there are cases where the memory of the dead must give way to the needs of the living. For those who are left behind, for the widow who mourns, for the son, I have nothing but words of sympathy. Gladly would I suspend, if possible, the law that the sins of the father must descend for three and four generations.

PASTOR IS GIVEN SURPRISE.

Pleasant Event at Home of Rev. and Mrs. Row at Leo.

Leo, Ind., April 8.—A pleasant surprise was given Rev. and Mrs. Charles Row at Leo, Friday evening, April 5. Rev. Row recently moved here from Waterloo as pastor of the St. John's Reformed church in this place, the Salem church a few miles west from here, and the Emanuels church north of Auburn. Many valuable as well as useful articles were presented, including hay, wood, considerable money, poultry, grain, meat, flour, chinaware, dry goods, groceries and many other articles not mentioned. In all about one hundred presentations were made.

The party was entertained with piano and violin music. Rev. Row extends his heartfelt thanks and appreciations to all for the offering.

Among those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hosler, Mr. and Mrs. David Schlatter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Disler, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wikel, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schuler and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Akey and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Klopfenstine, Mr. and Mrs. Otho Boren and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Schwartz, Mr. and Mrs. John Hesinger, Mr. and Mrs. John Schwartz and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fishburn and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Landis and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tabe Depew, Mr. and Mrs. John Amstutz and family; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hensinger, Mr. Campbell, Mrs. Elizabeth Schoerff, Mrs. Emma Garmon and family, Mrs. Jane Dignan, Miss Libbie Lochner, Mrs. Mabel McCrory, Mrs. and Dailey, Mrs. Mary Dailey, Mrs. John Carrington, Mrs. Mack Manning, Herbert Schwartz, Harry Bender, Charles Pepe, Emma Schwartz, Dora Thompson, Lolo Landis, Cleveland Schlatter, Edith Garman, Francis Schlatter, Minnie Schwartz, Francis Thompson, Roxie Disler, Levi Yoder, Etta Boehm, Solomon Yoder, Esther Garman, Elmer Garman, Mahlon Garman, Paul Landis, Lester Klopfenstein, Roscoe Garman, Mary Fishburn, Edith Fishburn, Mercedes Landis, Jessie Landis, Elsie Garman, Vera Boren, Bessie Boren, Albert Schwartz, Charles Warner, Mrs. Joseph Ludwig, Burlen Warner, Belle Garman, Walter Tonkel, Albert Akey, Orbit Akey, Ed Munson, Lillie Warner, Mae Michael.

INCANDESCENTS WENT OUT.

City in Darkness for a Time Saturday Evening.

For more than half an hour between 8 and 9 o'clock Saturday evening the incandescent lighting service of the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction company went out of business, and every business house, residence, church and theater in the city depending on incandescent lighting was in total darkness. The condition was due to an accident at the power station, and while the arc circuits were not affected, every incandescent lamp in the city went out and the street railway service was tied up. The accident occurred when the stores had a big crowd of Saturday evening shoppers, and many of them had to scurry out and gather up candles and oil lamps. In the theaters the performances were delayed and the management resorted to candles and lamps to relieve a portion of the gloom while the audiences waited with such patience as was possible for the resumption of the electric lighting before the performances could proceed. At the Majestic, where the final performance of "The Prince of India" was being given, the lights faded away just at the close of a scene which was darkened, and the performance was not marred, only an additional delay being caused before the play could be resumed.

HOME LOAN CO.

There are times when a few extra dollars added to your salary would be of great benefit. We are in business for the purpose of supplying money to honest, salaried people on their own name without collateral security and who hold permanent positions with responsible concerns or corporations.

We will loan from $5.00 and over, according to the wage you earn. Those people who have a reputation of paying their bills as they agree and are known to be honest can always get an accomodation from us. Many a successful business had its start from a little borrowed capital.

We make no objectionable inquiries among your friends and your employer will know nothing about it. To know where you can go and get money at once when a sudden demand requires it, is certainly worth something. Establish your credit with us and you can do it.

The loan can be repaid in small weekly, semi-monthly or monthly payments as your salary will permit.

This enables you to pay cash for immediate wants and repay us a little at a time.

Our rates will be an agreeable surprise to borrowers.

We will be glad to furnish terms to all who call.

YOUNG WIFE AND MOTHER IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Mrs. H. J. Kelsey Succumbs to Peritonitis—Other Deaths.

Msr. Bessie Kelsey, wife of Homer D. Kelsey, died at 10:45 o'clock this morning at Hope hospital from peritonitis at the age of 23 years, 6 months and 24 days. Mrs. Kelsey was married only a year ago, and her death leaves motherless a baby boy born but a week ago. The stricken young wife and mother remained conscious to the end, and a few hours before her death was received into the membership of Grace Reformed church. The remains were removed to the family home at 513 East Lewis street.

Mrs. Kelsey was born in Lagrange county, and her husband, who is connected with the Prudential Insurance company, was but recently given a promotion and placed in charge of district headquarters for the company at Marion. Surviving relatives in addition to the husband and baby son include the parents and three sisters.

The remains will be taken Tuesday morning to Millersburg, Elkhart county, where funeral services and interment will occur.

KIRCHNER.

Mrs. Pauline Kirchner, 71 years of age, died at her home in Preble, Adams county, Sunday afternoon, at 1 o'clock, after a short illness. She was the widow of William Kirchner, a prominent farmer, who died some time ago. Mrs. Kirchner has frequently visited in Fort Wayne and had a wide acquaintance.

Mrs. Kirchner was born in Germany, but had resided in America about forty years. Surviving children are Mrs. W. J. Fuhrman, Mrs. Louis Stetter, Mrs. Pauline Jahn and Mrs. Henry Berberich, of this city; Mrs. Ida Hey, of Williams, and Martin, John and Henry Kirchner, of Adams county. There are twenty-eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services Wednesday at 1 o'clock from the residence and at 2 from the Preble Lutheran church.

NEDEAU.

Mrs. Aurilla Nedeau, widow of Brazill Nedeau, died Sunday evening at 6:15 o'clock at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Miller, 1203 Barr street, after an illness of many months from stomach trouble. She was 70 years of age.

Mrs. Nedeau was born in Michigan October 24, 1836. Her husband served as a soldier in the Seventy-second Illinois regiment during the civil war and later engaged in business, his death occurring twelve years ago. Two years ago the widow came to Fort Wayne to make her home with her daughter. She was a devoted member of the Cathedral congregation, the Rosary society and the Sacred Heart league. Eight children survive. They are George Nedeau, of Parksville, Mich.; Gilbert and Fred Nedeau and Mrs. Alice Cranfill, of Oklahoma; Andrew Nedeau and Mrs. Belle Allen, of South Bend; Alfred Nedeau and Mrs. Edward Miller, of this city.

Funeral services Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock from the Cathedral.

HABEL.

John Habel, a retired machinist, died Saturday afternoon at the residence of an aunt, Mrs. Barbara Riedmiller, of Riedmiller street, after an illness of about one week. He was unmarried.

Mr. Habig was a native of Germany, but came to Fort Wayne forty-eight years ago, and was for many years employed in the various local machine shops. The surviving relatives include only the aunt and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Louise Habel.

Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of Mrs. Habel, 1208 Taylor street.

Funeral services from the residence Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Brandt officiating.

KIBIGER.

Esther Hilde, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Kibiger, 415 Montgomery street, died Sunday morning at 2 o'clock. The father is an employe of the Artificial Ice company.

Funeral services from the residence Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. H. C. Luehr officiating.

HOPE SOON TO GET JURY.

Hammering Away to Get Twelve Men to Try Abe Ruef.

San Francisco, April 8.—The selection of jurors who will try Abraham Ruef on the charge of extortion from the French restaurants, was continued in Judge Dunne's court this morning. It is believed that the jury will be selected within the next two days. It is expected that at least eight indictments will be returned by the jury against officials of the Pacific States and the Home Telephone companies. It is said that it will take two days yet to complete the inquiry into the details of the telephone deals, and then the attention of the jury will be turned to some independent matters that demand immediate investigation, but which were postponed to allow the cleaning up of the telephone branch of the proceedings.

are under implicit orders to shoot any person found tampering with the tracks. Scores of these guards are being employed daily through an employment agency here, and every applicant is questioned regarding his knowledge of the use of firearms.

Scores of railroad and Pinkerton detectives were rushed yesterday into Hudson, O., the scene of the latest wreck, and with the local authorities have been organized into posses, which are scouring the surrounding country for some clew to the wreckers.

One Man Could Do Mischief.

Officials of the road who investigated the Hudson, O., wreck yesterday made a test to discover how long it would take a man familiar with track work to arrange the rails so as to throw a train off the track. The conditions under which the wrecker or wreckers worked were duplicated as nearly as possible, and the test showed that one man, working rapidly, could draw the spikes, remove the fish plates, and bend the rail inward, securing it in that position, in about five minutes.

The test was made in daylight, however, and the investigation shows that the wreckers worked in the dark, so that it would probably have taken a longer time to complete the task.

The wreck Saturday night took place at 9 o'clock in a cut just west of Hudson. The train, composed of an engine, tender, baggage car, one day coach, and three Pullman sleepers, was running at a fifty mile clip when it struck the broken track. It happened that just at this point a bank of earth parallels the track and the train was turned into it. The locomotive plowed along the bank for fully 100 yards before the train was stopped. It was found that the spikes of one rail had been removed and one end of a rail turned in just enough so that it would catch the flanges of the engine wheels and throw the train off the track.

Tampering Skillfully Done.

The fish plates were also removed from the rail and were jammed in between the ends of the rails so as not to interfere with the electric signal apparatus and give an alarm. Had the connection at the rail joint been entirely broken it would have broken the electric circuit and caused danger signals to be displayed. This was the method used by the wreckers at Wilmerding, East Pittsburg and Penns station.

What alarms the railroad officials most is the fact that the work is done by experts, who not only understand how to avoid such interference with the electric rail, current as would send in a danger signal but also do all other work in a skillful manner.

The officials of the railroad admit that the capture of the wreckers is the most serious problem that has confronted them in years. That the lives of hundreds of passengers and thousands of dollars' worth of rolling stock are in constant danger is admitted by the officials.

Engineers Lose Their Nerve.

Added to these conditions is the complete demoralization of the railroad employes. Veteran engineers who have sat at the throttle of the high speed trains for years are so alarmed that they are losing their nerve. Many have asked to be excused from the fast runs, and one old engineer is known to kneel in the cab of his engine each night just before his train pulls out from the Union depot on its time killing run to New York and pray that he will reach the end of his run in safety.

Until Saturday night the work of the wreckers was confined to the system between here and Altoona, and as the result all trains were permitted to run behind their schedules over this section of trackage. The appearance of the wreckers on the lines west will now result in the slower running of the trains west, and unless the reckers are caught soon it is only a question of a few days until the schedules of the entire system will be demoralized.

So far the hundreds of railroad detectives have been unable to get even the slightest clew which would lead up to the apprehension of the wreckers.

CLEVELAND STANDS OUT FOR HIGH PAY FOR RISK MEN

Says Laws Pending in the Western States Are Unconstitutional.

New York, April 8.—Former President Grover Cleveland, counsel for the Association of Life Insurance Presidents, has just submitted to that association a brief in relation to the matter of salaries paid by life insurance companies. The occasion for its presentation, it is stated, is the fact that certain western states have now pending before their respective legislatures bills that would limit the salaries of life insurance officers to $50,000 a year, while in others the limit is fixed at $25,000 a year.

The brief, it is announced, will be filed today with the Wisconsin legislature by Robert Lynn Cox, who will appear as attorney for the association of life insurance presidents, in opposition to the bill providing for compulsory investment of reserve funds in the state, largely increased taxation of premium receipts, and other subjects.

After calling attention to the fact that insurance companies are private corporations, Mr. Cleveland says:

"Whether these companies are classed as stock corporations or mutual corporations, in either case their business interests are confined to contract relationships based upon the expectation of life and other incidents attaching exclusively to the individual policyholders in each corporation. It has been judicially determined, beyond the reach of controversy, that in legal contemplation these companies are within the definition of persons, and, so far as their rights are concerned, they are on the same footing as citizens of the United States and of the several states.

Relies on the Constitution.

"The fourteenth amendment of the federal constitution provides that 'no state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any state deprive any persons of life, liberty, or property without due process of law.'"

He then takes up for consideration salaries paid to presidents and first vice presidents in twenty-nine leading companies, including the five large companies that pay $50,000 or more, and adds:

"From this examination it appears that the total premium receipts of the twenty-nine companies amounts to $440,665,908; that the percentage of these receipts paid to presidents and vice presidents by all the companies was 29-100 of one per cent; that the percentage of their premium receipts so expended by the twenty-four companies paying salaries less than $50,000 was 50-100 of one per cent; but that the percentage of premium receipts so expended by the five companies paying to their presidents and vice presidents $50,000 per annum or upwards amounted to only 19-100 of one per cent."

Only Wants "Fair Play."

After arguing that the doctrine of comity forbids one state from seeking to interfere with the internal affairs of citizens of other states except where absolutely necessary for the protection of its own citizens, he concludes:

"These corporate citizens of the United States, having entered states other than their own, exhibit in their defense the certificate of fitness and approved equipment granted them by their home states. They ask such consideration of these certificates as will save them from anomalous and injurious limitations upon their business operations, and such treatment as their home indorsements and faith in the American standard of fair play have led them to expect."

WIFE SECURES DIVORCE AT EIGHTEEN YEARS OF AGE

Decree Brought About by Eight Months of Stormy Life.

A girlish form slipped into the witness chair in the superior court this afternoon and as a deep crimson suffused her face she confessed that, although she is less than nineteen years of age, she had listened to the wooing of a man twice her age, had married him, had lived for eight months the victim of the utmost cruelty only to be deserted by the man who had stirred in her soul the first thought of love.

The girl was Nettie Heffelfinger, of Eel River township, until she became the wife of Theodore Houser, a little more than two years ago. At the time she was sixteen and although she had been warned that the man was a drunkard she did not believe the stories that were neighborhood gossip and attributed them to the spite of the people who warned her.

After her marriage she moved with her husband to a lonely log cabin, where the girl remained alone from Monday morning until Saturday night, subsisting as best she could, because her husband brought home to her only provisions enough to last them over Sunday. The remainder of the week she lived on flour and water and had no society but the cat. The husband, she said, was a drunkard and whenever he could get liquor he drank it and she was the butt of his drunken ravings. Because she caressed her cat he beat her and on one occasion he struck her and she fell against a door, sustaining a gash in her head that left its mark and she still has the scar.

Then he tired of her and left, going west and leaving her to be cared for by her parents. She was given a decree and allowed to resume her former name. There were no children born of the union.

The Other Divorces.

John W. Brenenkant was also an applicant for and received a decree from Hazel Brenenkant. She was cruel to him and threatened to put him out with an ax, which he did not mind so much, but one night he went home and was denied admittance. When he asked why he was locked out he was given the satisfaction of knowing it was "because." He hung around, however, and said that he saw a man's form slide from the back door and disappear in the darkness. This made him mad. They were married about two years.

Anna Schmit also got a divorce. John Schmit was a frequenter of the Saturday and Sunday saloons and spent all his money there and not only that, but he pawned his wife's watch and her daughter's ring to supply himself with drink. He brought home a little candy once in a while as a peace offering, but his wife grew tired. He was a widower with one child and she a widow with one when they were married five years ago. She was restored to her former name of Grieb.

The case of Mary Bisson against Morse Harrod was submitted to a circuit court jury today, having been on trial for several days.

David Heineman has sued the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction company and the Indiana Union Traction company for $1,000 damages. He states he was injured in a collision on March 4. W. C. Ryan is his attorney.

Mary F. Franke has filed an action against Edward G. Franke, asking a limited separation. W. G. Colerick represents her.

NO HANDOUT FOR EVELYN.

Denial of Story That Elder Mrs. Thaw Has Given Her $250,000.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 8.—"The statement that Mrs. William Thaw has or had settled $250,000 on Mrs. Harry K. Thaw is untrue and might be characterized by even stronger language," said Frank Semple, financial agent of Mrs. William Thaw today.

"Mrs. Thaw has not settled $250,000 or any other sum on Mrs. Harry K. Thaw and so far as I know she has no intention of so doing.

"These rumors, which seem to arise when other affairs in connection with the case are dull, are very annoying to Mrs. Thaw and the rest of the family and I hope this denial will settle the matter."

CIRCUS SEASON TO BE OPENED EARLY IN FORT WAYNE

Stupendous Wallace-Hagenback Combination Will Be Here May 3

Indiana can now boast of having a great many things that are bigger, better and grander than other states and she has recently gone old Connecticut one better in the circus business by turning out the biggest circus in the world. Connecticut was the native state of P. T. Barnum the Great, but P. T. is a dead one now and instead we have the indomitable Uncle Ben Wallace from Peru.

The latest coupe of Mr. Wallace's was to consolidate the Great Wallace shows with the Carl Hagenbeck shows, a sort of "hands across the sea" affair, Mr. Hagenbeck, of Stillengen, Germany, a wild animal trainer of world-wide reputation, supplying the animals and Mr. Wallace supplying the circus features. The new Hagenbeck-Wallace shows combined will probably be the biggest thing in the circus line that has ever been seen in this country or any other for that matter. It will be bigger by several cars than any other circus now in this country, and will carry over one thousand people with the show and over seventy-five agents and bill-posters ahead of the organization. Three advertising cars will attend to livening up the dead walls and billboards with multi-colored posters for miles around while several brigades of advertising men will visit the city before the day of exhibition.

The menagerie of the show will be of more than common interest, all the animals being selected for their rarety. A blue-faced Mandrill, a specie of giant monkey standing over five feet tall, will be one of the features. This monkey is said to be over a hundred years old and to possess the strength of a dozen men. The trained animal exhibit will be one of the special features of the show. There will be groupes of performing sea lions and seals, polar bears, lions, tigers, elephants, llamas and birds, besides a troupe of twenty beautiful striped zebras trained like ponies that execute a military drill. There will be no neck-breaking automobile acts of a sickening nature, but the performance will be confined to novelties on the circus order brought up to date, and presented in their most pleasing form. The date has been set for the exhibition to be given in Fort Wayne about May 3d.

BRITTON TO BE TRIED IN FAMOUS KENTUCKY FEUD CASE

Has Been in Jail Awaiting Trial Two Years in Breathitt County.

Lexington, Ky., April 8.—The case of "Bill" Britton, charged together with Judge James Hargis, Elbert Hargis, Ed Callahan, Jesse Spicer and Curt Jett, with the assassination of James Cockrell, town marshal of Jackson, Breathitt county, Kentucky, in 1902, will begin in the circuit court here tomorrow.

Britton has been in jail here for more than two years. He was tried once and was given a life sentence, but secured a new trial.

Cockrell was shot at Jackson, but died in a hospital here. All the cases of the men charged with the killing will be tried here. The Hargises, Spicer and Callahan will be tried in May. They want a continuance, but the prosecution has ordered the attorneys for the defense to prepare for trial. The trial of Judge Hargis, at Sandy Hook, Elliott county, for the killing of Dr. B. D. Cox will take place there so Attorney Young, for the defense, says. Both sides want the case remanded to Breathitt county.

The trial of B. Fulton French, John Smith and John Abner, on charges of assassination of James B. Marcum, at Jackson, Breathitt county, will be called at Beattyville, Lee county this afternoon. The men were tried last summer on the same charge, but the jury disagreed. Smith confessed in January that he took part in the assassination of Dr. Cox at Jackson but refused to talk about the Marcum case.

went through his clothing and almost through the leg. It was low enough to miss the intestines and did not as much as cut an artery and there is nothing to fear unless there are some complications.

The police are also at a loss to know why the wounded man waited so long before he sought a physician. He called a cab a short time after he was wounded and did not reach the doctor's office for an hour and a half. An investigation is being made on the theory that if the bullet was a stray one it was fired by a negro who was engaged in a fight half a square away from the spot at which Sessler says he was struck.

The Margin for Safety

Many do not know how to judge the security of a bank. They think big assets show security. Assets are, in main, a liability also. The real security is indicated by the relation the bank's capital and surplus bear to its deposits.

This bank has paid in capital of $500,000; stockholders' liability, $500,000; surplus and profits, $200,000; a total of $1,200,000, which this bank must lose before any depositor can lose a penny.

The large margin for safety, the long, successful record of this Bank, the high standing of our directors and the fact that they devote their personal attention to the affairs of the bank are the reasons for the large degree of confidence and patronage which has come to us. We aim to deserve its continuance.

WAGING WAR ON DISEASE.

Strenuous, devoted, and unremitting warfare against the white plague is being waged in Washington by the committee on prevention of consumption. The campaign, very largely, is one of education, and the effort is being made to acquaint the people with the origin and nature of the disease.

"This insidious disease, which we call consumption, phthisis, or tuberculosis of the lungs, is the most terrible destroyer of lives with which civilization has to contend," said an officer of the committee a day or two ago. "Within the last few years science has shown the nature of the disease, and has clearly demonstrated its cause, how it flourishes and spreads, how it declines and disappears. The time has now arrived when it becomes the duty of all sanitary authorities to assume a more aggressive attitude.

"The disease known as tuberculosis may attack any organ or tissue of the body. When it affects the lungs it is called pulmonary tuberculosis, or consumption. In this form it causes about one-seventh of all the deaths occurring in the human race, and omitting the deaths among children up to fifteen years and adults after sixty, we find it causes about a quarter of all deaths, so that its ravages are most deadly at a period when the life of an individual is most useful The death roll from tuberculosis in the United States exceeds 100,000 every year.

"While the meat and milk of tuberculosis cattle may be important sources of danger, yet the disease as a rule is acquired through its communication direct from man to man through the very dangerous practice of unnecessary spitting.

"The expectoration of tuberculous persons frequently lodges in places where it afterward dries, as on handkerchiefs, clothing, carpets, floors, sidewalks, or vehicles. After drying, it is very apt in one way or another to become pulverized, and then, by means of wind, trailing skirts or other causes, it floats in the air as dust.

"Pulmonary tuberculosis is usually produced by breathing air in which the living germs are suspended as dust or attached to dust; such dust may retain for weeks, or even months, or longer, its power of causing the disease. It should be distinctly understood that the element of danger is the dried and pulverized sputum, and not the breath of tuberculosis patients or the moist sputum received into proper cups. The breath and moist sputum are practically free from danger, because the germs are not dislodged from the moist surface."

It has been determined by the inter-state commerce commission to apply to the United States court in the southern district of New York for an order compelling E. H. Harriman to answer certain questions about the declaration of a dividend on the Southern Pacific and his purchases of stock of that road at that time, if he made any, which he refused to answer during the hearings recently held in New York. This move is to be taken not alone to probe for facts yet concealed, but principally for the purpose of establishing the power of the interstate commerce commission.

Finally the end of the Thaw trial is actually in sight. The public whetted keen for it at the beginning is sated with it now. It's an uncommonly hardy stomach that is not cloyed with its staleness. Attorneys have begun talking and they are unlimited as to time, but glory be! there's a limit to the human endurance of even an oratorical lawyer.

Editor Stead wants a pilgrimage of Americans to the capitals of Europe to preach universal peace. All very well, but there are a few warlike matters in this country that ought to be settled before the pilgrimage. Peace as well as charity should begin at home.

The difficulty of getting a jury to try Abe Ruef in San Francisco seems to be due to the fact that everbody is his friend or that everybody isn't. There's a general prejudice one way or the other.

Harry and Evelyn have already planned their second honeymoon. Must make 'em shudder, though, to think of one or two possible reasons for not taking it.

As to that "great conspiracy," Mr. Fairbanks can dispose of it cold in a pair of poohs and a brace of tuts.

Gas question still under consideration—and clouds, maybe.

STEAD REVEALS PLAN TO SPREAD UNIVERSAL PEACE IDEA

Urges Pilgrimage of Americans to Big Courts of Europe.

New York, April 8.—W. T. Stead, the English apostle of international peace, discussed the opportunity afforded Americans by the coming Hague conference of rousing other nations to make definite progress toward the ideal described by his phrase, "The United States of the World," in a speech he delivered from the pulpit of Plymouth church, Brooklyn, last night.

He urged that at the coming peace convention twelve representative American men and women should be selected as the nucleus of a "pilgrimage of peace." These persons would then appeal to the American people for their indorsement by public meetings or signed memorials.

Armed with this evidence of national support, they would in the first case go as a deputation to the president, asking him to instruct his delegates at The Hague to support the above program.

Wants Pilgrimage to Europe.

Then they would approach the British ambassador, informing him of their intention to start at once for England in order to appeal to the British people for their support in pressing their requests upon the king and his ministers.

The other members of the diplomatic corps at Washington also would be apprised of the object of the pilgrimage. Then would come a sendoff banquet at New York, and the "Pilgrims of Peace" could start in the first week of May for their tour through the capitals of Europe.

Mr. Stead said there was no doubt that they would receive an overwhelmingly popular reception in Britain, where the ground already has been prepared. At London they would be joined by four pilgrims, and the Americans and Scandinavians, together with twelve British pilgrims, would present their petition to the king at Buckingham palace and to his ministers in Downing street.

Get Band in Every Nation.

The thirty-six pilgrims would then cross over to Paris. The same thing would be repeated there. Receptions by the president of the republic and his ministers, the municipality, and the chamber of commerce would afford ample demonstration of the loyalty of France to the principle of fraternity.

The pilgrims, now swollen to forty-eight, by the addition of twelve French pilgrims, would pick up others at Geneva, and then go on to Rome. From Rome the pilgrims, now sixty-two in number, would go to Russia, and eighty-six would arrive at Berlin, ninety-eight would reach Brussels and then 100 would finally round up at The Hague to present their petition to the conference, which is to assemble on June 1.

Mr. Stead said that the idea had been received with enthusiasm in Europe.

NOTABLE FRENCHMEN HERE.

Came Here to Attend the Dedication of Carnegie Institute.

New York, April 8.—Four distinguished Frenchmen, who came here to attend the dedication of the Carnegie institute at Pittsburg this week, arrived here today on the steamer La Touraine.

The visitors are Baron D'Estournelles De Constant, D. L. C. Enlart, director of the French Trocadero museum; J. Rais, secretary to the chamber of deputies, and Paul Doumer, ex-president of the French senate and a candidate for the presidency at the last election. Baron D'Estournelles De Constant is the founder of the American branch of the association of international conciliation. He will go to Washington later today, where he is to be the guest of President Roosevelt at the white house until tomorrow.

DESERTED WIFE FOUND DEAD.

Two Dogs Guard Body of White Woman in Negro's Home.

Marion, Ind., April 8.—Deserted by her husband and abandoned by her friend, Mrs. Maude Knight, aged 35, was found dead on the floor in the home of "Limber" Williams, colored, last night.

The janitor of the house attempted to enter the room when two dogs that remained faithful to the woman stopped him at the door and refused to let him enter. He asked the police to kill the dogs, but the officers were held at bay by the maddened animals. At last a man who knew the dogs succeeded in getting into the room and there, upon the floor, lay the body the dogs were protecting. Near by was a tin cup half full of a liquid, the nature of which the coroner has been unable to determine.

What The Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

The Hedekin house now boasts of a barber shop, of which Jerome Peters is the chief tonsorial artist.

The State Christian Temperance convention met at Indianapolis Wednesday. Vice President Thomas Kavanaugh, of this city, in the chair.

The wedding of Charles S. Bash and Miss Flora Orr takes place next Tuesday.

Dr. W. P. Whery has resigned his professorship at the Calhoun Street Medical college.

Last Sunday Richard Thompson, of the Fort Wayne, Cincinnati and Louisville telegraph office, and his young friend, Tom Creighton, clerk to Master Mechanic Will Morris, climbed up to the top of the unused chimney at the repair shops to get a view of the city from this elevation. Some of the mischievous shopmen discovered it, and thought it a good joke to kindle a fire under the young men and smoke 'em out. A little later huge volumes of smoke from burning shavings were rolling up the chimney. Thompson was caught half way up the chimney and almost suffocated. He managed to reach the top, where he found Creighton rubbing his eyes and coughing. Thompson had just strength enough to throw one leg over the top of the chimney and then fainted. Creighton supporting him and preventing him from falling. Finally the fire smoldered out and the fresh air revived the young men so that they were able to descend to earth.

The Young America Bicycle club gives a ball at Arion hall next Monday night.

Dr. A. P. Buchman will next week have a down town office over Thieme's drug store.

CHURCH CRISIS COMING AND ONE RELIGION FOR ALL MEN

Evolution of Universal Belief Prophesied by a Bible Student.

Ithaca, N. Y., April 8.—That we are approaching a crisis in the religious belief of mankind, and that a new faith is coming, is the opinion of Professor Nathaniel Schmidt, Cornell's profound scholar and teacher of oriental and biblical history. In the April number of the Cornell Era, which appears today, writing on "Epochs of Faith," he declares that it is in the spiritual life that great resolutions take place and that they are preceded by important changes in the physical environment, the social organization and the interpretation of nature.

That we are on the verge of such a revolution Professor Schmidt feels confident. "The remnants of primitive ideas and practices are fast disappearing," he asserts. "Polydemonism and polytheism are giving way to conception implying the unity of creative power. Less importance is attached to sacred days, sacred places and such things. Sacred books are not regarded as standards of our own faith and practice. The emphasis is being placed on the ethical contents of religion.

"The new faith will seek for that which is universal in man's belief, not rooting up or tearing down one form of creed or cult in order to impose another. It will recognize that all religion had the same origin and it will revere each prophet of the soul whose hand has turned aside a fold of the veil and revealed some new aspect of the eternal truth. It will honor and trust in reason, while careful to keep its light trimmed by cultivation of the heart and will. It will recognize the sovereignty of ethics. It will be vital, touching life on every side, growing with the growth of man's mastery over nature, the perfectionment of his social relations, the expansion of his knowledge, the increasing delicacy and power of his artistic sense, and the deepening consciousness of the mystery of religion."

BABIES BREAK INSURANCE CO.

Society Offers to Pay for Their Advent, But They Come Too Fast.

Boston, April 8.—Swamped by the births it was organized to promote, the American Birth Insurance society has gone into the hands of receivers, and the supreme court has been asked to decide the disposition of $7,000 on hand. The society started operations about two years ago and was intended to pay $150 to $200 upon the birth of a baby in the family of the policyholder, the idea being that many families avoided children because of the expense attendant upon their coming. Though it secured much new business, the society was unable to keep up with the births it had to pay for, and decided to quit business while still solvent.

WILL CONDEMN WRITINGS.

New Syllabus by Holy Office Will Put Works Under Ban.

Rome, April 8.—It is reported that the new syllabus being prepared by the holy office will contain a solemn condemnation of the works of the Abbe Houtin and of Fonazzaro, in addition to condemnations of the writings of the Abbe Loisy, Rev. Dr. William Barry and the former Jesuit priest, Terrill.

According to information received here the Abbe Loisy, whose books were placed on the "index expurgatorius" in 1903, mainly owing to the efforts of Cardinal Richard, the archbishop of Paris, is suffering from an incurable internal disease, but before dying he hopes to finish his most important work on "exegies," or explanation of his apologetics.

YEAR WAS SUCCESSFUL.

Fine Showing Is Made by Simpson M. E. Church.

The year's work of Rev. J. M. Canse as pastor of Simpson M. E. church closed Sunday morning, and the yearly report made by the pastor showed 69 additions to the church. Rev. Canse during that period conducted 22 funerals, officiated at 15 weddings and made more than 1,800 pastoral calls. The church has contributed to the various benevolent causes the largest sum of money ever raised in a single year of its history. The official board has extended to Rev. Canse a unanimous invitation to return to Fort Wayne for the third year, and all are hoping to see the new church building in course of construction this summer.

MAY ORGANIZE CHURCH.

Missionary Society of Church of God Is to Meet.

The Ladies' Missionary society of the Church of God will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. J. A. Swayze, 415 High street, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting is to make an effort to organize a congregation of this faith in Fort Wayne. Twelve or fourteen years ago there was a church of this denomination in Fort Wayne, but it disbanded, though the missionary society has maintained its organization throughout the interval.

CONSUL UYENO CALLED HOME.

Japanese Agent at San Francisco Needed in Tokio.

San Francisco, April 8.—The Call today says that Consul Uyeno, who represents Japan in this city, has been called home by Foreign Minister Hayashi to assist in framing a new policy for the future relations of the empire with the United States. It is said that Consul Uyeno will sail for Japan on Wednesday. While he is away his post will be filled by Matsu Bara, assistant consul, who was recently transferred here from Honolulu.

BURKE'S AGE SAVES A TERM OF 10 DAYS IN JAIL

Is Barely Under the Limit and Gets Suspension —City Court.

If Billie Burke had arrived on earth twelve months earlier than he did he would have had an opportunity to test the accommodations at the county jail for ten days as a sentence of imprisonment was suspended by Judge Skelton in the city court this morning and only $20 stood between him and liberty at the time of adjournment.

Burke is a waiter and on Saturday he took a hack ride to a road-house west of the city with Mabel Moore and H. O. Luce. When they got back the latter made a kick and said he had been touched for a diamond pin and what money he had in his pockets. Burke and the woman were arrested and he gave the time honored name of George Brown. He entered a plea of guilty to the charge of being caught in the company of the woman and a fine of $10 and costs and a jail sentence of ten days was handed to him. Just before the adjournment he confided to the court that he is only twenty years of age which made it possible to suspend the jail sentence. The woman was fined $10 and costs. Luce did not show up. He is a book agent who smashed some windows at the Rich hotel several months ago and was let go after he had been held a day or two under a charge of drunkenness.

Fighters All Fined.

Alvin Reed, Harry Overly and Frank Fitzgerald started a fight in the Harber saloon Saturday night and finished it out on the sidewalk, and this morning all were fined for drunkenness. Fitzgerald had been up before and as he had given Reed an awful beating a previous conviction was charged against him and he was handed $25 and costs.

The Other Cases.

Rose Seward was not there but a bond was forfeited to pay her fine of $5 and costs.

William Dial ended a prolonged speer with an effort to clean out his boarding house in which he struck a small girl with a tumbler and was fined $1 and costs for drunkenness.

NOTICE.

Electric Light Bills are now due. Discount will not be allowed after 10th. Office open evenings 9th and 10 th until 9 P. M. 8-3t.

The Ladies' Aid society of Simpson M. E. church will meet Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Fred Fuller, 121 West Butler street, for the election of officers.

Stubborn Coughs and Colds CURED BY FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

Obstinate, racking Coughs that make your head ache, your throat and lungs sore and inflamed, that rob you of sleep until your system becomes so run down that you are in grave danger of Pneumonia or Consumption, are quickly cured by Foley's Honey and Tar.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

soothes and heals the inflamed air passages, allays the feverish conditions, stops the cough and prevents serious results from a cold.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

is the only prominent cough medicine on the market that does not contain opiates or harmful drugs of any kind and on this account is safest for children.

It is unexcelled for Croup and Whooping Cough and will quickly cure the racking cough which follows measles and leaves so many children with weak lungs unless properly treated.

Remember the name — Foley's Honey and Tar—and refuse substitutes that cost you the same as the genuine. Do not take chances with some unknown preparation.

Consumption Threatened.

C. Unger, 211 Maple St., Champiagn, Ill., writes: "I was troubled with a hacking cough for a year and I thought I had consumption. I tried a great many remedies and I was under the care of physicians for several months. I used one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar; it cured me, and I have not been troubled since."

Three sizes—25c, 50c, $1.00.

The 50 cent size contains two and one-half times as much as the small size and the $1.00 bottle almost six times as much.

Don't Mope or Fret When You Know Your Credit is Good

THE CHICK

By WEX JONES.

A poor little chicken looked gloomy and glum,
Instead of all fluffy and flip,
And feebly it cheeped, "Oh, this world's on the bum."
For the poor little thing had the pip.
The pip-ip-ip-ip,
The poor little thing had the pip.

The sun was as bright as a new minted dime,
But that drooping wee chick wouldn't skip;
It was having the mournfullest possible time,
For the poor little thing had the pip.
The pip-ip-ip-ip,
The poor little thing had the pip.

So don't think the world is a dismal old place,
If mayhap you have loosened your grip;
The sun's shining still; get a smile on your face,
And never give in to the pip,
The pip-ip-ip-ip.
No, never give in to the pip.

The Peerless-Colonial Dancing club gave its last dance for the season Saturday evening in Hanker's hall. There was a large attendance as members invited one or two guests each. An orchestra of six pieces furnished fine music. Among out of town guests were Miss Marjorie Brooks and Messrs. Williams and Saxon, of Elyria, O.; Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Adams, of Columbia City; Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Nelson, of Peoria, and Mrs. Lewis, of Chicago.

Miss Charlotte Vogler gave a beautiful party and "handkerchief shower" for Miss Myrtle Schick on Saturday evening, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Gruber, of Washington boulevard west. The entire plan in decorating the rooms was carried out in white and green. Easter lilies and tulle were used in the parlors and in the dining room. The supper table was particularly lovely with Easter lilies, plumosus and lilies-of-the-valley. The candles were white with gold filagree shades and at each place was a small gilt slipper as a favor. The place cards were embossed with lily-of-the-valley design, the chair of the bride-to-be was marked with bows of tulle, plumosus and satin ribbon. Everything that could contribute to a bridal effect was used, even to having a bride's cake, in which the customary dime, ring and thimble were hidden. A shower of handkerchiefs was donated Miss Schick at this last of several lovely ante-nuptial affairs in her honor. The guests were Miss Charlotte Schick, Miss Anna Scherer, Miss Lulu Trier, Miss Anna Moran, Miss Agnes Rohan, Miss Ada Moore, Miss Mayme Noll, Miss Florence Vogler, Miss Flora Cook, Miss Florence Parnin, Miss Florence Rust, Miss Lillian Moellering, Miss Emma Foellinger, Miss Gale Spangler, Miss Lydia Trier, Mrs. Charles Dickmeyer.

Miss Moffat Appointed Librarian.

Miss Mary Moffat, a former resident of Fort Wayne who has been occupying an important position in the congressional library at Washington, has gone to Indianapolis where she has accepted the position in the state library of reference librarian. Miss Moffat is the second daughter of Rev. D. W. Moffat, D. D., now living in Madison. Her training has been thorough and her experience such as to make her well equipped for her new work which she takes up this week. The following article appeared in the Indianapolis News of Saturday evening:

"Miss Mary Moffat, who holds an important position in the congressional library, Washington, has been appointed reference librarian in the state library. Miss Moffat is an Indiana woman, whose father, Rev. Dr. Moffat, lives at Madison. Miss Moffat fills the requirements fixed by the state board of education and the state librarian. These are a college education, training in a library school and experience in a well conducted library.

"Miss Moffat attended college at Hanover, Ind., and Lake Forest university, Illinois. Her studies were continued in Europe after this college work. Her instruction in library work was in George Washington university library school under Dr. Ainsworth R. Spofford, in bibliography; Dr. Prespell, of the bureau of education, in classification; Hugh Williams, in cataloguing, and W. P. Cutter, now of the Forbes library in Northampton, Mass., in order work and cataloguing. She was recommended by these instructors to the library of congress in 1901, where she has continued ever since. Her chief in that library speaks in high terms of her work wherever she was placed.

"Miss Moffat has been in the city a day or two, and will begin work at once."

MEALS FOR TOMORROW

(Chicago Record-Herald.)

TUESDAY, APRIL 9, 1907.

—Breakfast.—
Creamed Chipped Beef. Toast.
Waffles, Chocolate Sirup.
Coffee.

—Luncheon.—
Creamed Peas on Rosette Wafers.
Potato Balls.
Grape Fruit. Saltines.
Tea.

—Dinner.—
Chicken Baked in Milk.
Mashed Potatoes. Spinach Timbales.
Baking Powder Biscuit.
Grape Jelly.
Sliced Fruit Pudding.
Coffee.

Chocolate Sirup—Heat one cup of maple or sugar sirup and dissolve in it one rounding tablespoon of grated chocolate.

Rosette Wafers—Recipe comes with every set of Rosette irons. Two or three dozen wafers may be made at one time, as they keep crisp for weeks.

Chicken Baked in Milk.—Prepare the chicken as for roasting, rubbing it with salt and filling it with a highly seasoned bread-crumb dressing. Place in a baker, with one cup boiling water, and brown in hot oven. Then add two quarts of rich milk and one cup chopped celery and cook very slowly, turning and basting often until chicken is tender. Thicken the gravy in pan with two tablespoons flour.

Spinach Timbales—Chop fine a generous cup of spinach; press it through a fine sieve; melt two tablespoons butter, cook in it two tablespoons of flour, a dash of paprika and one-fourth teaspoon salt; add a cup of milk and stir until mixture boils; then add spinach, two beaten eggs and more season if needed; mix thoroughly and cook in buttered timbale molds. Serve with cheese mayonnaise. (Boston Cooking School Magazine.)

Steamed Fruit Pudding—One large cup of suet, two cups bread crumbs, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup nuts, one cup chopped figs and dates, one-half cup of flour, one teaspoon each of cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg and one-half teaspoon salt, small cup of molasses or dark brown sugar, one teaspoon soda dissolved in one cup sour cream; mix thoroughly and steam three hours.

Child's Lingerie Bonnet

Dainty lingerie bonnets, trimmed with flutings of fine linen and batiste and edged with narrow valenciennes lace, will be worn by small children this spring and during the coming summer.

Caps made like the one in the illustration will be becoming and comfortable for most children, for the stiff portion around the face keeps the ruffings from flopping over the forehead and eyes. The loose, full back is very pretty and will be particularly convenient for wear on hot days, because the material does not cling to the head.

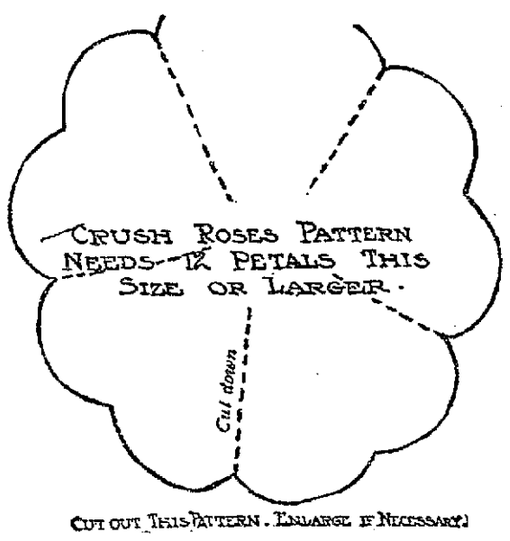
Fashioned of sheer linen such a bonnet, either plain, with a series of flutings, or with ruffles of insertion, will be appropriate for every day wear or when baby is dressed for an outing in the afternoon.

Long or short linen streamers, fastended to each side of the cap, are tied under the chin to keep the bonnet securely in place. These strings are pretty trimmed with lace and ruffles to match the decoration on the cap, or if hemstitched they will be quite as effective.

Lamp Screen of Paper

ROSE SIDE SCREEN, SIZE, 9 INCHES IN DIAMETER.

COPYRIGHT BY DENNISON MFG. CO.



CUT OUT THIS PATTERN. ENLARGE IF NECESSARY.

A rose screen is made on the same principle as an ordinary crush rose, enlarged, of course. The center, too, requires enlargement. Long stems laden with leaves form a background for the flower, and the whole is completed by a brace for the back which keeps the shade from too close proximity with the lamp. This is a little wire affair which may be purchased for ten cents.

To make a rose for such use crush three of these in the fingers for center, forming a little hood, and wire to a stiff stem. Roll the tops of the other petals from you over a crochet needle, then with the forefinger and thumb of each hand push together. This gives the curl and at the same time a crinkled effect. The sides of the petal are curled inward in the same manner. Curling in this way rounds the petal and gives the rose a full, rounding shape.

Place the curled petals a little above the center ones and wire on, lapping each petal nearly half way over the one preceding. Wrap the petals close to the center, as the tendency is for them to spread. Continue until rose is of desired size. File on calyx, attach flower to green covered wire stem and wind.

A Hat Chat to College Girls

Smart Hats make smart girls, in the sense the word is now being applied to dress. No matter how ravishing the frock may be if it is not topped off with a stunning chapeau the taut ensemble lacks that cachet sought by every up-to-date girl.

We give special attention to designing and securing "classy" hats for college girls—we are agents for the house of "Phipps," who search the marts of the globe, including the Orient and the Riviera, where the very quintessence of fashion is paramount. In addition we have models from Burgesser's Gage's, Fiskhat's and other celebrated designers. Our booklet, which is free for the asking, describes some of our clever hats. STEWED DUCK

This is the best way to cook a duck about whose age there is any question. Clean and joint as you would a chicken for a fricassee. Put into a stewpan with several finely minced slices of cold ham or salt pork, add water to barely cover, and, as the scum rises, remove. Stew gently about three-quarters of an hour, keeping the stewpan covered. Then add a chopped onion, a little minced parsley, a tablespoonful catsup, and salt to season, and cook another half hour or until tender. Now mix, until smooth, two teaspoonfuls ground rice or a tablespoonful ordinary flour with a wine glass of port, stir into the gravy, color a rich brown with Culinary Bouquet, cook until smooth and thickened, turn into a deep dish, and serve very hot with green peas and cranberry jelly.

Fort Wayne's New Pastor.

Rev. E. Q. Laudeman, the new pastor assigned to Bethel church, Fort Wayne, delivered the conference sermon Saturday evening. He has for two years been pastor of the church at Rochester, this state, and is a young clergyman of conspicuous ability. He is 37 years of age, and has been engaged in the active ministry six years. Rev. Mr. Laudeman received his theological education at Northwestern college, and his ministerial work has been markedly successful. He is married and the father of three children. It is expected that his first sermon as pastor in Fort Wayne will be delivered Sunday, April 22.

Rev. D. E. Zechiel, who has been pastor at Bethel church for the past four years, is assigned to Grace church at Indianapolis. His work in charge of the Fort Wayne church has been highly successful, and he has made many friends here.

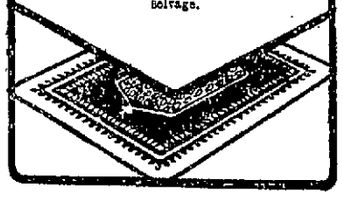
THE DREAD OF HOUSECLEANING

Is lessened to a great extent by the prospect of "something new" to freshen up with. Shifting things around—relegating to the rear shabby Curtains and Carpets and replacing with new are part of the great scheme of Domestic Economy. We can amply aid you with the desired newness with our immense stocks of Carpets, Curtains, Rugs and Draperies, which is larger and better than ever this spring. We can also help you with your old furnishings, in our Upholstery Department, where old furniture is made to look like new at little cost. The work is done by skilled workmen and each piece turned out is guaranteed to last as long as the covering wears. Send us some of your old Furniture for a trial order—You will be pleased with the result.

"Imperial" Smyrna Rugs

TRY an "Imperial" in your own room, try an Oriental, a Two-tone, or a Delft design, and then stand back and note the effect. How the right rug in the right place enhances the beauty that is already there! A rug in a bedroom is almost a necessity, and an "Imperial" Smyrna is the best for the purpose. All sizes and each rug reversible. Try one and see what a difference it makes.

Caution: The genuine "Imperial" bears the Trade Mark "I. S. R." woven in the selvage.



EXCLUSIVENESS IN CARPETS.

Our showing of Carpets includes many patterns that are exclusive with us, and not to be found elsewhere. No matter what the grade, the patterns have been carefully chosen, and no undesirable, garish designs or colorings will be found in the entire stock. There are Carpets from every leading mill in the country—Carpets for every room in the house—and Carpets of every weave. Ingrains, Body Brussels, Axminsters, Tapestries, Wiltons and Velvets—They're all here in their best quality at rock bottom prices.

THE LINOLEUM STOCK

Is overflowing with the different makes and grades of this popular floor covering, from the ordinary lines to heavy Inlaids. Dozens of patterns to select from, tile, mosiac and conventional effects.

Prices range from 45c to $1.50 per square yard, laid free.

We make a specialty of the 3, 4 and 5 yard wide Linoleums, one width sufficient in many cases to cover a room.

OUR RUG STOCK

Covers the entire range in quality, size and price, suited for every requirement. Rugs large and small —of every weave— Ingrains, Tapestry Brussels, Body Brussels, Velvets, Wiltons— each in a pattern selection without limit, from the smallest door mat to large room size. Your time will be profitably spent examining them.

LACE CURTAINS AND DRAPERIES.

Nothing adds so much to the general appearance of a room as dainty window hangings and Draperies. Our spring stock of these goods is unexcelled, including all grades and prices.

Ruffled Nets and Muslins, Snowflakes, Madras, Nottinghams, Arabians, Cluny and so on through the entire list, from the least expensive to handsome effects in Brussels, Renaissance, Marie Antoinette, Filet, Etc.

YARD GOODS FOR DRAPERIES

Beautiful new Cretonnes and Art Linens suitable for dainty hangings or furniture coverings. Curtain Nets in colonial designs and Arabian color; a popular window drapery for living and dining room. Silk Damasks and Velours for portieres and overhangings, and a large line of Soft Drapery Silks in plain colors and printed effects.

ARTISTIC INTERIOR DECORATIONS.

We have a competent designer and expert draper to carry out any desired decorative scheme, and who will be pleased at all times to give estimates on interior decorative work, furnish original designs and submit sketches for any room or suite. If you contemplate having work of this kind done, let us help you—it costs no more to decorate and equip a room in an artistic and harmonious manner than in the every-day, ordinary way, which is so prevalent.

PIONEER ALLEN COUNTY SETTLER IS DEAD NEAR PERU

William Butt Came to This County at a Very Early Day.

William Butt, who was one of the pioneer settlers of Allen county and the father of James F. Butt, of Woodburn, died March 31 at his home near Peru at the age of 77 years, 10 months and 22 days. He came to Allen county at a very early day, and his memory went back to the historic struggles of the pioneer times in this region.

Mr. Butt was born on Darby Creek, Pickaway county, O., May 10, 1829, and came with his parents to Allen county in 1832, at the age of 3 years. His father, also named William Butt, bought 400 acres of land in St. Joseph township, just east of the Goeglein grocery on the Ridge road, which became later known as the Colerick farm. After residing here fourteen years, the family in 1846 removed to Miami county, locating upon the farm which was still owned by Mr. Butt at the time of his death. In 1863 the son returned to Allen county, locating one mile southeast of New Haven. In 1865 he again returned to Miami county, but two years later, in April, 1867, came again to Allen county, locating on what was known as the Ox-bow farm owned by him in Maumee township, now owned by his son, James F. Butt. A part of this farm was entered and purchased by the elder William Butt in 1832, and has been owned continuously in the family since that time.

Mr. Butt was twice married. His first wife was Elizabeth Lesher, whose death occurred February 23, 1869. She was a native of Ohio, and they were married Nov. 7, 1858. To this union were born four children—James F. Butt, of Woodburn; Mary Ellen, who died in infancy; Mrs. Annie Allman and Mrs. Dora Ashton, of Peru. On December 2, 1869, Mr. Butt was married to Elizabeth Scovel, who survives him, with their two children, Mrs. Effie Daniels and Mrs. Rose C. Holmes, of Peru. There are ten grandchildren as well as two brothers and a sister—Elias Butt and A. A. Butt, of Peru, and Mrs. Mary Rector, residing in Nebraska, as well as a half-brother, S. A. Butt, of Peru. Mr. Butt was a kind, charitable, Christian man, and his chief aim in this life was to render others happy. He was loved and respected by all.

Mr. Butt was present at the funeral and interment of Mary E., daughter of Ezra May, who was the first white person to die at Maysville, Allen county, and who was buried in the old cemetery at that place September 2, 1838. This was the first interment in the tract of land donated by her father to the settlement for cemetery purposes, and is still used in this way. The first years spent by Mr. Butt in Allen county were those of extreme hardship. Wild beasts abounded and the comforts of life were few and hard to obtain. During the first years the family resided here they erected a log cabin, with blankets covering the doorway openings and the earth for a floor. During this time the father farmed the ground where now stands the beautiful and thrifty suburb of Lakeside at Fort Wayne. The subject of this sketch, in company with his elder brother, Daniel, would accompany their father to work early each Monday morning on horseback, returning home with him on the following Saturday evening. His was the typical life of the pioneer youth of that day, and his life extended over a span sufficiently long to enable him to witness the marvelous development of the country to its present greatness.

William Butt, sr., the father of the subject of this sketch, was subscriber to and received a copy of the first issue of the Fort Wayne Sentinel in 1833.

FUNERAL OFF; "CORPSE" ALIVE.

Michigan Man, "Dead" Eight Days, Retains Life-like Appearance.

Millington, Mich., April 8.—The burial of Ernest Cobb has been postponed indefinitely, and his father says it will not take place until decomposition sets in. Although it is eight days since Cobb "died," according to the doctors, the body still retains its life-like appearance. Last night is was taken from the coffin and tests were made by physicians.

The jaws and eyes were opened, and when released they closed immediately. Heat was applied to one foot and the flesh blistered like that of a live person.

When the body was laid with the head hanging down, the blood could be seen to rush to the ears.

S.S.S. CURES SKIN DISEASES

No skin disease can exist without an underlying cause, and in most instances that cause is either a humor in the blood or an excess of fiery acids in this vital fluid. These humors and acids get into the blood, generally because of an inactive and sluggish condition of those members whose duty it is to collect and carry off the waste and refuse of the body. This unhealthy matter is left in the system to sour and ferment, and soon the circulation becomes charged with the acid poison. The blood, in its effort to rid itself of this foreign matter, begins to throw off the humors and acids through the pores and glands of the skin. These coming in contact with the delicate tissues and fibers with which the skin is so abundantly supplied produces irritation and inflammation on the surface, and Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum, or some other troublesome and disfiguring skin disease is the result. External applications, while they soothe the itching, and are beneficial in keeping the skin clean, can never cure skin affections, because they do not reach the blood where the real trouble is located. A thorough cleansing of the blood is the only permanent cure for skin diseases. S. S. S., the greatest of all blood purifiers, is the best treatment. It cures by neutralizing the acids and removing the humors from the circulation so that the skin, instead of being irritated and diseased by the exuding acrid matter, is nourished and soothed by a cooling, healthy stream of blood. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble, removes the foreign matter and thereby permanently cures every form of skin trouble. Do not expect to cure a blood disease with local applications alone, but begin the use of S. S. S., and when you have removed the cause the skin will be free from disease. Special book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

APRIL SHOWERS PREVENT BASE BALL GAMES ON SUNDAY

Shamrocks Didn't Get Any Practice to Say Nothing of Cubs and Sox.

Aside from a few April showers into which had been injected a liberal mixture of January rain the Fort Wayne ball park presented some sloppy going yesterday and any attempt to have pulled off the practice games arranged for the Shamrocks would have incited a riot in the camp as the players did not want to take chances on a lot of sore muscles and sprains so Manager Mart Cleary had nothing to do but sit by his fireside and win the pennant of Northern Indiana for the season of 1907.

The Shamrocks were not the only sufferers as most of the ball games all over the country were either abandoned or played in the midst of weather that was never designed for the promotion and financing of the national game. The White Sox did not get on at Cincinnati nor did the Cubs have a go at Springfield, Ill. A few games were played.

Cleveland, 7; Toledo, 1.

Toledo, Ohio, April 8.—Bunched hits and fast playing gave the Cleveland team of the American League the game over Toledo of the American association by a score of 7 to 1. Scores:

		R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	1 0 5 0 0 1 0 0 0	7	13	1

Burlington, 8; Des Moines, 7.

Burlington, Iowa, April 8.—A good exhibition game between the Burlington, Iowa League club and the Des Moines Western League team resulted in victory for the local players. Scores:

		R.	H.	E.
Burlington	0 0 2 1 3 0 1 1 *	8	12	6
Des Moines	1 0 0 3 0 0 2 0 1	7	15	5

Batteries—Carr, Lorenzer and Bruggerman; Nelson and Yeager.

Nashville, 6; Evansville, 0.

Evansville, Ind., April 8.—The Evansville Central League team was shut out by the Nashville team of the Southern League. Scores:

		R.	H.	E.

Batteries—Smith, Duggan and Sorrell and Wells; Wacker, Bethel and Knol and Hardy and Larimer.

Boston and Columbus Tie.

Columbus, Ohio, April 8. — The Boston Americans and the Columbus American association team played six innings without either side scoring, when rain stopped the play. Scores:

		R.	H.	E.

Batteries—Dineen, Harris and Armbruster; Garvey, Kane and Fohl.

BASE BALL NOTES.

A three-cornered trade is on tap by which Fred Parent may leave Boston and Jake Stahl may become a member of the team. The White Sox will get Parent and Washington is to have some of Comisky's young players after the training season.

George Tieman has fixed up the salary question with South Bend and has joined the team.

Perl Larue, who will play with Wausau in the Wisconsin State League, was here yesterday and will join his club in a short time.

The Toledo Nationals have written to Manager Mart Cleary for a date with the Shamrocks.

The Superbas beat the young Eagles by a score of 10 to 8. Batteries—Davis and King. Baals and Underwood.

The Bloomingdale Stars defeated the Scrubs 15 to 0.

Robbins, Railing and McKain will go to South Bend with the Shamrocks.

ROB "BOSS" COX IN HOTEL.

Thieves Escape With Jewels and Ornaments Worth $35,000.

Cincinnati, April 8.—Information has leaked out in police circles that while they were sojourning in New York recently Mr. and Mrs. George B. Cox of this city, were victims of sneak thieves and that the light-fingered crooks carried off a large number of jewels and ornaments belonging to Mrs. Cox valued at $35,000. Mr. Cox was former political "boss" of Cincinnati.

Although the jewels were stolen over two weeks ago and the police of Cincinnati and New York have been working assiduously on the case, they have, it is said, so far failed to find the slightest trace of the treasures. Mr. and Mrs. Cox were stopping at the Hotel Knickerbocker.

INCENDIARIES DESTROY MILL.

Water Front Fire in Norfolk, Va., Causes $100,000 Loss.

Norfolk, Va., April 8.—Fire of incendiary origin destroyed the Daisy rolling mill early yesterday, entailing a loss of $100,000. The burned building was situated on the water front, adjoining the the eastern pier and warehouse of the Clyde line, which was seriously threatened by the fire. Work of the fireboats saved this property.

A negress who conducts an eating house across Water street from the mills has informed the police that she saw two white men pouring the contents of a bottle against the sides of the mill just before the fire started.

The Pioneers and Nationals are in a dead lock in the big Brunswick League for first place and the fight for the pennant seems to have narrowed down to the two clubs as there is no other in hailing distance. The St. Joe Athletics maintain the highest average in the three leagues and the Centlivre Specials have the flag cinched in the Third League.

THREE KILLED BY WALL PAPER.

Poisonous Substance Believed Fatal to Indiana Man's Wives.

Evansville, Ind., April 8.—Physicians discovered yesterday that poison contained in paper that covered the walls of a room in the home of James Watson in Posey county caused the death a few days ago of Mrs. Watson, who, it was believed at first, died of meningitis. Mr. Watson has lost three wives in the last three years. All showed the same symptoms in their last illness, and it is believed each was poisoned by the paper. Mr. Watson says each of his wives cleaned the wall paper a short time before she became ill and died. The paper has been examined by chemists, and is found to contain a virulent poison. When brushed or shaken a fine, mica-like substance falls from it. It was to prevent mail clerks and other postal employes from being poisoned that the government recently forbade the mailing of souvenir post cards covered with this preparation.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF FARMERS

Helpful Suggestions in Home Life

GRAFTING IN APPLE ORCHARDS.

The old orchard can be very much helped by grafting and fertilization. The best time to graft is in the early spring, and preparations should be commenced as soon as the buds have swelled a little, by the last of March or 1st of April. The scions should be cut, tied in bundles and placed in some cool, damp place, such as the cellar bottom. Scions are merely the last years's growth of some tree, the kind you wish to propagate. It is important that the tree selected should be vigorous and bear apples of a good size and color.

As soon as it is warm enough for wax to work well, usually in April, you can begin to graft. If there should come an occasional cold day you can place your wax in a pail of warm water to soften it.

If the tree is large enough to contain more than one stub, look it over carefully and decide what limbs to graft and what to remove, that the tree may be well balanced.

The branches need thinning out somewhat to let the sunlight in, but too many must not be removed at once or the tree will be stagnated at the roots and not do so well, though it may seem all right for a time.

The branches should be sawed off smoothly close to the body of the tree so the wound will heal quickly. After the tree has been trimmed and you have decided what branches to graft, saw off the stub smoothly with a sharp, fine-toothed saw, split with the grafting knife and wedge open.

Select a scion in proportion to the size of the stub and cut off a piece large enough to contain three buds. Some grafters use only two, but it is better to have three, as often the lower bud set one-eighth of an inch into the bark and covered with wax will live, when the others are devoured by insects.

Next sharpen the lower end of the scion somewhat like a wedge, but with the outer edge wider than the inner so it will fit tightly into one cleft in the stub.

Then set the sharpened scion into the cleft so that the inside bark of the scion will match the inside bark at the stub. If the stub is large it is better to set two scions, cutting out one the second year if both live. Now cover the stub with wax and your tree is grafted.

WHY PLOW THE ORCHARD?

The modern orchardist no longer believes that sod-bound trees are profitable trees. He may seed down an apple or pear orchard to grass for a year or so occasionally—to check too rapid growth when such check seems necessary—but as a general thing he plows and cultivates his fruit trees every season.

The time to plow? Opinions vary, but there are two safe rules which have been time-tested and proved worthy:

Young Trees—Plow these as early in the spring as ground and weather conditions permit; don't wait for any certain date—do the work as early as you can.

Bearing Trees—Plow immediately after the blossoms fall.

How to plow? Shallow, of course. You do not want to rip out roots that can be avoided; it's the soil which needs stirring up, but not the roots. Set your plow to run about four inches deep, and if you strike a few roots so near the surface it cannot be helped.

For this work you will want a steady horse, a steady hand, a short whiffletree, and a small plow. Plow two or three rounds along each tree row. Lap the first furrows along the center of the row if you are plowing "up." Or, if you plow away from the trees, swing the plow in between trees, so that every inch of soil is turned except within a foot or so on each side of the tree. A little practice will enable you to thus skim close to the trees on the first round, leaving but very little hoeing to be done.

It is a good plan to pad the ends of the whiffletree. Then if it accidentally hits the trunk of a tree you will have no regrets. After plowing a few rounds along each row in the orchard, get out the large plow and team, and finish the work in the easiest and quickest way.

The amount of ridging up that an orchard needs depends largely upon the drainage. If the soil is not thoroughly underdrained, it is quite often essential to keep the ground ridged up along the tree rows so as to facilitate surface drainage. On the other hand, if tile or natural drainage facilities are good, it may be best to keep the ground as nearly level as possible at all times.

A merciful man will not put his horses smooth shod on the frozen, icy roads.

The man who feeds his cattle by throwing snapped corn in the mud is generally behind with the interest on his mortgage.

Every farmer ought to have a farmer's box and tools in order to nail on a shoe or take a loose one on occasion. Saves time and often injury to a horse.

Let the boy who has a taste for the work spend a month in a blacksmith shop, even if he has to pay something for the chance. He can learn enough about repairing to pay for the time and money spent twice over in the season on the farm.

SHORT TIME LEASES BAD.

One great fault with the present tenantry system is the short time leases. No man who has a single year's lease can feel a very deep interest in his surroundings. He takes little pride in the place, and knowing that his occupancy of the land is liable to end with the season, naturally he does not care much for anything except to get as much off the land as he can while he is there.

Leases of five or even ten years produce the most satisfactory results. Landlords in the Middle West, where land is high, are becoming very careful as to the character of their tenants, and once having found a good one they are inclined to give him a long lease and make inducements for him to do his best and improve the land while he occupies it.

The conditions of leases should be so fair and liberal to the tenant that he can have no legal business or moral grounds for neglecting his part of the contract.

The good landlord will insist upon the best kind of farming all the time. He will have the fences repaired every year, the hedges trimmed, the buildings kept up and the orchards preserved. If it is in the contract that he is to do these things he should do them. If it is stipulated that the tenant is to do the work the exact letter of the contract should be demanded.

Much of the bad feeling that exists between landlord and tenant is due to loosely drawn contracts in the first place, and the negligent enforcement of the provisions afterward. Start right and in most cases you will come out right.

This winter there is a greater demand for good tenants in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio than ever before. This is due largely to the scarcity of farm labor, also to the fact that the really competent farmer tenants are entering upon land ownership themselves very fast.

The fact is, there are more good farms offered for rent than there are good tenants to take them. There are just as many—perhaps more—poor, shiftless tenants than ever, but it is now a case of the survival of the fittest and the no-account, lazy renter must give place to the intelligent, industrious and honorable tenant.

It is a question whether there is not more clear money in renting good land than in owning it. Take land that is worth $175 per acre—the landlord will have to do some very close figuring to get even a low interest on the value after paying taxes, insurance on buildings, repairs and the other expenses which he is compelled to bear out of his share of the crop or his cash lease money.

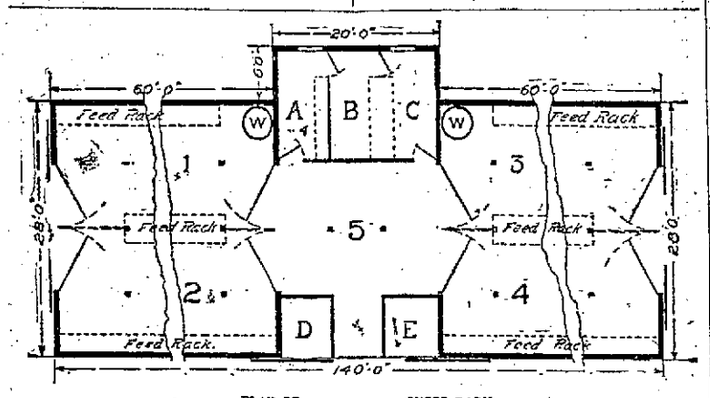
SPRING IN THE SHEEP FOLD.

Nothing better than alfalfa has yet been discovered for feeding lambs.

Lambs do not do well on prairie hay, particularly if fed for a long time.

Do not turn the sheep into the corn field to do their own husking. They may get fat in this way, but the waste of grain is very large.

Some men make money by buying wethers in the fall, wintering them on corn fodder, good oat straw, topping off with some shelled corn just before they go to grass. They are sheared and put on the market just before the first grass mutton comes on.



PLAN OF SHEEP BARN.

Plan of a sheep barn shown by the Minnesota ExperimentStation.

Dogs still continue to be the terror of sheep raisers, and it is one reason why more farmers do not engage in the business. A shot gun loaded generously with No. 2 shot is the only cure for sheep-killing dogs.

Did you sow some winter rye last August, for pasture as soon as the snow is off next spring? If you did not, make no mistake next summer.

A South Dakota man says he has saved many young lambs by wrapping them in a blanket, leaving the nose sticking out and feeding them a little of the mother's milk by means of a warm bottle and rubber nipple.

A good way to dock lambs is to tie a cord tightly around the tail and then clip off with a pair of sharp pruning shears. Leave the tail about an inch long. Cover the end of the wound with a little carbolated vaseline and remove the cord at night. No trouble will follow.

When you notice one of the flock keeping to itself, better investigate. You will generally find that the sheep is ailing some way.

If you want big fat sheep you must push the lambs from the start and continue feeding to the finish.

It is a great waste of time and money to allow a sheep to become too old for mutton or wool. Get rid of them in time.

Sheep or lambs sold for mutton should be just as fat as you can make them.

A flock of sheep will keep the wood pasture pretty well cleaned up, but they cannot live on weeds and brush.

Some men seem to think that sheep and Angora goats ought to climb trees and get their living from the branches.

A barbed wire fence is unsuitable for a sheep lot. The barbs catch on the wool and make the sheep look ragged. There is danger also that the animals may be injured by the barbs.

A wire fence, unless it is fifteen feet high, will not keep out a dog. Do not depend upon it.

L. M. Campbell, a Colorado farmer, says he wintered eighty-five ewes on an alfalfa pasture, raised thirty-five [illegible] of an automobile.

GREAT RANGES PASSING AWAY.

That most picturesque feature of cattle raising on the Western plains—the great "round-up," will soon be among the things of the past. The railroads are stretching their long lines through the very heart of the range country, and in place of the terminal station, to which thousands of cattle were gathered from the surrounding country to be shipped to Eastern markets there will be many stations at convenient distances and within easy reach of the diminishing herds that still crop fatness from the buffalo grass.

The range "round-up" was always a thrilling sight. Cattle by tens of thousands were sought out from the hills and valleys by scores of range riders, those bearing brands to be cut out into herds by themselves, the fat cattle packed into hundreds the fat cattle packed into hundreds of cars to be sent on their long, horrible journey to the slaughter pens.

There were many days of hard work for the cowboys followed by many other days and nights of drinking and carousing, which lasted until the last train started on its Eastern way. Then the range riders, cowboys and helpers mounted their ponies and struck out for their various ranges to spend months of hard and lonely work looking after the herds yet to come.

Grass fat cattle are soft and lose flesh more quickly than grain-fed animals, and the long drive from the range to the round-up station, the terror and crowding as the cowboys dashed among them, the yelling and prodding with iron spiked poles as they were packed into the cars quickly reduced their flesh.

The long journey, sometimes as much as 1,000 miles, with infrequent rests and insufficient feed and water, caused further loss of weight, and these cattle often arrived at market sad and sorry specimens to be converted into beef.

The great range is rapidly passing and in its place is coming the fenced pasture of the small farm. This change is gradual but rapid; irrigation is turning the great plains into rich pastures and fields and grain and other crops are taking the place of buffalo grass.

Cattle will be sent to market in better flesh and shipments will be more evenly distributed. Thousands of range cattle are now sent to the corn states every year to be fattened for market, but with the development and settlement of the great range country the grass-fed steer will soon be a curiosity in the Chicago stock yards.

NEVER BUY A CHEAP RAM.

Never buy a cheap ram just because he is cheap. He will prove dear, even if given to you. Get a strong ram, a yearling or a two-year-old. A ram is half the flock, and so a very cheap plan for improvement.

While you are selecting and securing your ram, place the ewes in a fresh pasture, a plot of rape or give them a few oats that they may be gaining rapidly for a few days before and while you are breeding them.

This is considered a means to secure a large percentage of lambs.

Another detail in this connection is to see that they are properly tagged.

If the flock is large, do not turn the ram in to wear himself out uselessly; the last of the lamb crop will have to pay for it if you do. Let him in an hour twice a day, and feed him well.

To bring the ewes into winter quarters in strong condition is important, and they should not be exposed to the cold rains. Their wool is partly grown and they dry out slowly in these short days and the effect is deteriorating.

Let them have a shelter, and as cold weather approaches let them have some roughage that they may gradually change from grass to winter rations.—Homer Hitchcock.

PLOWING IN THE FALL.

A landlord tried to get his tenant to plow in the fall. He told his landlord that August plowing was not good for the land. The landlord told him to go ahead and plow or get off the farm, and to plant his share of the crop on the August plowing and he would stand the loss. The man plowed as directed and was heard to say after the next harvest, "I will do all the August plowing I can after this."

KEEP A TIGHT LINE.

Whenever we see a man driving a team with the lines dangling down like an old sagging clothes-line, we feel like kicking him. More runaways have occurred as a result of this practice than any other. On being suddenly frightened, a horse can make two or three big jumps before the loose lines can be gathered up, and then the driver is at a great disadvantage.—J. B. C.

In England a motorist while scorching along a country road at the rate of fifty miles an hour killed a man. A jury gave his widow $7,500 damages and the Lord Chancellor confirmed the verdict, saying that a farmer has as much right to a share of the road [illegible] of an automobile.

HELPS IN FARM WORK.

I have handled horses all my life and never yet had to give one a beating to make him act as I wanted him to. If I found I had that kind of a horse on my hands I always sold him.

If you know a boy in your neighborhood who is having a particularly lonely and hard life, have your own boys bring him over occasionally. Good company, a good dinner and a friendly look puts a heap o' heart in a boy.

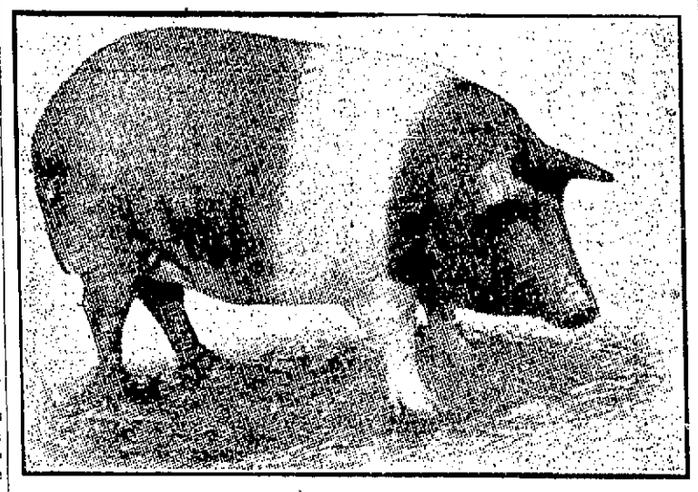
We are all receiving letters and circulars about wonderful wheat, corn and other seeds at monstrous prices. If you haven't saved your own seed, buy them from the dealer you know to be honest.

A dozen grape vines of the right kind will in three years provide the family with all the grapes they can eat. You can plant them in two hours and they require very little attention.

You may think you are a pretty good farmer, but do not be too liberal with your advice. Most people don't like it, because it is cheap.

My father gave me a rebuke once which I have never forgotten. He nettled me standing talking to a lady with my hat on and hands in my pockets. He said nothing at the time, but at the dinner table casually told mother that he had seen a boy doing just these things. Mother said she was very much surprised, and that was enough.

If you can possibly afford it, keep one horse for your wife's use, and let nobody else ride or drive it.



A Hampshire Belted Hog. An ideal bacon hog. This animal weighed 410 pounds at eighteen months. Owned by John Goodwine, Jr., of Potomac, Ill.

Hope you did not make the boys work hard all through the holiday season, when they came home from college. Of course, they ought to help out whenever it is necessary, but it is a bad thing to hunt up unnecessary work just to keep a growing boy humping.

Better be honest and square with your boy every time. Cannot fool him very much, because he generally knows his father as well as the old man knows himself.

How are the roads in your neighborhood? Better organize a good roads club. If your neighbors do not take any interest, try to arrange for a good talk on the subject at the institute meetings.

It is not too early to begin to make arrangements for spring work. It will be on top of us before we know it and then what a rush there will be to get harness, blows and everything else in shape. Some of us won't have time to do it properly if we wait too long.

Don't get grouchy because your neighbor has a better house or bigger barn than you have. Maybe your mortgage is not as big as his is. That's a heap of comfort.

The chronic borrower is a great nuisance in the neighborhood. Of course we are all glad to lend to a man who is just getting a start, but the man who is able to buy everything he needs but continues to use his neighbors' tools ought to be ashamed of himself.—A. L. Falfa.

CORN STALK DISEASE DISAPPEARING.

This disease is not yet well understood, although it attacks a great many cattle every fall as soon as fodder is fed. Many animals die from it, but it is becoming understood that when corn is cut at the right time and properly cured there is little danger from it.

The shredder is doing as much as any other thing to prevent trouble in feeding corn stalks. When fodder is cut at the right time, properly shredded and cared for there is no more danger in feeding it than in feeding alfalfa or any other roughage.

It is mighty poor farming to allow corn stalks to go to waste, but a ride through the great corn belt will disclose the fact that hundreds of thousands of tons of good feeding stuff goes to waste every year.

It is hard work to cut and shock corn in the old way, but the introduction of the corn harvester and the shredder makes the work comparatively light, and there is no excuse for allowing this valuable product to be wasted. The corn stalk disease is growing less every year, and with the necessity for better treatment of the product it will doubtless disappear in time.

HIGH PRICES FOR HORSES.

Reports from all sections show that really good horses are very scarce and prices are high. This is attributed in part to the inactivity of horse breeders during the last five years, during which time most of the good stock has been taken out of the state. The South African war drained the country of thousands of good horses, and the breeders have not yet regained their former status. Eastern dealers who buy Western horses say that prices in the West are also much higher this year than last, and good animals are likely to bring high prices during the next year, at least. The auto has not hurt the horse business at all.

The man who turns the old horse out to die that has broken down by hard work in his service would turn his wife out of doors when she gets old and marry a young girl if he could find one fool enough to have him.

ODD JOBS AROUND THE FARM.

A good tool to cut turf around trees and along borders of walks can be made from an old hoe. Bend the shank out straight and sharpen from both sides.

Colts ought to be halter-broken now and by spring they ought to be used to the bridle and the back-band.

In a clover country a farmer who owns a seed huller can make from $5 to $10 with it, net, by hulling for his neighbors.

An Iowa farmer suggests that a good way to prevent the dirt from getting to the oil bowls of the old-style disc harrows is to attach pieces of one-quarter inch gas pipe so they extend up from the oil pipes through the box, keeping them closed with wooden plugs. A blacksmith will do this work at small cost.

If you do not know how handy they are, attach chains to your mangers, the hitching post, and wherever you want to fasten a horse. Have a good snap in the end of the chain which can be quickly attached to the bit rein.

A good hog fence can be made by setting posts three feet high sixteen feet apart. Run a barbed wire three inches from the ground and another on the top. Then nail on good strong wire netting thirty inches wide. Draw all tight, and this fence will last a long time.

If you cannot afford to build an expensive hog house, take ten-foot boards and nail them to a stout frame made in the shape of a peaked roof. Cover these with long straw and batten them down with strips running crosswise. The boards should run from the peak downward and the straw should be laid the same way in order to carry off water. A window for light and ventilation should be put in one end and a self-closing door in the other.

When ventilating poultry houses or hog houses, let the ventilator take in air about twelve inches from the bottom and carry it up to within twelve inches of the top before the next opening is made. The ventilator should run diagonally through the house.

Never use barbed wire except, perhaps, one or two strands on a low hog fence. They are too dangerous to be used for cattle, horses or sheep.

One of the handiest things about a farm is a cart made from the wheels of an old buggy on which is mounted a light frame, constructed to hold hay or other light material. A pair of hand shafts can be attached, and these should be supported by a stick hinged to the handle when the cart is standing. This will save a great deal of hard work.

There ought to be two step-ladders on every farm. The one for the house should be about five feet high and the other, for the orchard and outdoor work, about nine feet. Make the latter yourself, taking the house ladder for a pattern.

PEA HAY IN THE SOUTH.

The feeding value of peavine hay is becoming more generally recognized. The failure to secure a stand of red clover has materially enhanced its value in the eyes of the farmer, for it is really the best substitute for clover hay that has yet been found. Considering its feeding value alone, it is much richer in digestible protein than clover hay, and for certain purposes on the farm is more valuable.

Peavine hay is splendidly adapted for feeding to sheep and to cattle whether milk or beef production be the object in view. It is not so well adapted to feeding to horses and mules, especially to horses, because it is dusty and is supposed to be one of the principal causes of "heaves."

While it is true that clover hay is a fertile cause of heaves, it is not so likely to produce the disease as pea hay. Many have objected to using pea hay for horses because it has been said to be a frequent cause of death.

Investigation has generally shown that death was only followed when mouldy pea hay was fed, and as the feeding of timothy or clover hay under the same conditions would as likely have produced death, it is not fair to attribute any injurious effects to properly made and cured pea hay.

More or less of a good quality of pea hay has been fed to horses and mules on the university farm for the past three years without injurious effect.—A. M. Soule, Director Virginia Experiment Station.

MONEY ON EIGHTY ACRES.

I have an eighty-acre farm here, within two and a half miles of Catawissa, a railroad town, within thirty-eight miles of St. Louis. I keep five or six cows. If I sell my calves at six weeks old for veal, I get $8 to $10 each. If I have only 100 bushels of apples I get from 75 cents to $1 per bushel. I took in a load of chickens Thanksgiving week and sold them for 11 cents per pound.

The way to make eighty acres of land clear $1,000 per year is to get where the middle-man does not get it all for handling your product.

Land here is worth $25 to $40 per acre, and it can be turned any way you like from a dairy farm to a grain, poultry or hogs—just as you like. If the prices do not suit you here, you can haul your produce direct to St. Louis.

That is the way I make $1,000 or more, by getting where I can sell my own product direct to the consumer. Even my honey I take direct to the city and sell to the consumer. As I said, you are too far from market; the middle-man and freight consumes one-half of the price of your produce. —John Cheary.

USE OF DENATURED ALCOHOL.

The manufacture of denatured alcohol is not any different from that of any other, the only difference in the finished product being that the former is spoiled for drinking purposes or domestic or medicinal use by the addition of compounds which render it highly offensive to the smell and taste.

It is now believed that it can be used in common traction engines with slight changes in its construction and will greatly lessen the cost of fuel for all farm engines.

Farmers can manufacture this alcohol under government regulations, which are not burdensome.

SAVE ALL THE HIDES.

When an animal on the farm dies from accident or sickness they should be skinned at once. Such hides are valuable, no matter what some unscrupulous dealer will tell you. A large hide requires a bucket of salt—more than a hide from an animal that has been butchered, because sticking draws off most of the blood. Do not cut holes in a hide, as that spoils their value greatly. The hide from a large cow or horse will bring from $4 to $6; sheep pelts from 50 cents to $1, and calf hides from 75 cents to $1.50. Wool from a dead sheep can be saved even if the hide is spoiled. Pull out the wool, but be careful not to let the hide come in contact with the hands if they have abrasions upon them or blood poisoning will result. After hides have been well salted, fold them up with the hair outside and take them to market as soon as possible.

TO KILL CANADA THISTLES.

Having failed to kill the Canada thistle when small, I now waited till just before the seeds had matured enough to germinate, as at this period the roots have become greatly reduced in vitality, having put forth all their energy to reproduce themselves, which they are sure to do a thousand fold. I now plowed them under about six inches deep, using a heavy chain to press them to the bottom of the furrow, so that they might be covered as deeply as possible. I took the precaution to follow with a hoe and see that every stem was completely covered with dirt. The result of this treatment was far more successful than I had expected, as the following spring but very few of the thistles appeared. As this spot of ground was not far from the house, it was fenced, and made an ideal garden spot, as, after such thorough cultivation, it was free from weeds of all kinds.—D. Davidson, Minnesota.

TIME FOR MAKING CRATES.

Now is a good time to nail up crates either for fruit or farm use. Where elm or other good crate timber is plenty and a mill to cut it into crate material is handy, the timber can be got out at a trifling cost and nailed up when other work is not pressing.

I know of one man who puts in his spare time making crates of common lath and 2 x 4 (hardwood). The latter are cut into triangular pieces with a rip saw for corners and the lath nailed to them quite closely together. This makes a light but not very durable crate.

Store box material, especially orange or lemon boxes, can be used for crates. By cutting hand holes in the ends of the orange boxes and nailing the slats firmer, they will make fairly good crates just as they are; or the slats may be knocked off, the middle partition taken out, and slats sawed to proper length and renailed to ends, making a fairly good crate.

If zinc or tin strips be nailed over the ends of slats to prevent nails drawing out, a good, light crate will be made at a trifling money cost.—S. B. Hartman.

DROP IN THE POTATO MARKET.

There was a steady decline in the potato market during the latter part of December, but prices were checked during the first week in January.

Maine growers marketed very heavily, and as some of their potatoes were frosted in transit, the New York and Boston markets were gutted with unsalable stuff.

There is a good deal of talk about a potato shippers' trust in Michigan and other Northwestern states, and it is asserted that this combination is able to control cars and other facilities through an arrangement with the railroads.

Prices ran from 35 to 50 cents per bushel, wholesale, in Chicago, and in New York the market got down at one time to 30 cents.

Farmers whose potatoes are keeping well are advised to market very slowly or hold until later in the season.

TRAIN HORSES TO BE GENTLE.

We once saw a farrier kicked across the shop by a good looking mare that was trembling with terror. The man picked himself up, walked over to the owner, who stood grinning, and lifted him off his feet with a blow on the chin, saying: "That was your fault, not the mare's." And he was right. No man is fit to own a horse who cannot pick up its feet anywhere and at any time without danger.—J. B. C.

Hornless cattle are more desirous than seedless apples. Both can be obtained by proper breeding.

If all the cellars were kept clean some of the doctors would have to shut up [illegible]

FARMER RAISES WILD GEESE.

William Rainsbarger, near Eldora, Iowa, has for several years raised wild geese, which he ships to sportsmen throughout the country, who use them for decoy purposes.

Mr. Rainsbarger, who is a great sportsman himself, trapped a number of wild geese several years ago and has added to this flock from time to time.

He sets eggs in the early spring, following the natural inclinations of the goose, and has very good results. The young goslings are generally so tame that it is not necessary to clip their wings to keep them on the farm.

A White Holland Turkey Tom, bred in New Hampshire. This bird weighed twenty-one pounds at two years old.

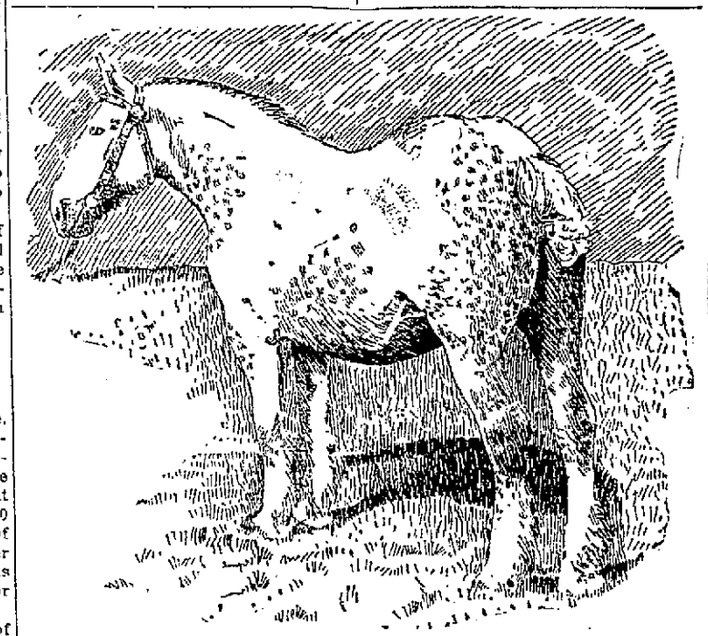
GENERAL FUNSTON'S NEW HENS.

When a reporter called on General Funston not long ago to ask him about the possibilities of his promotion to be major, General Funston seemed to be much more concerned about the attitude of his hens than his promotion.

"Eggs have been pretty high this winter," said the general, "and I concluded to provide our table with eggs from our own hens. When I got my pay check on the first of the month I bought seventeen hens. We expected to get at least a dozen eggs per day, but do you know those blessed hens have laid only two eggs in two weeks." Looks very much as though the Funston family would have to do its share toward keeping up the scarcity in the egg market."

POSTS BAD SEED DEALERS.

Secretary Wilson has published a list of seed dealers who have been guilty of selling adulterated clover and alfalfa seed. It's a pretty severe punishment for these dishonest dealers, as the publicity given them will hurt. These dealers are not confined to one section of the country, but are to be found in all the large cities of the East, West, North and South. The clover seed obtained by the government's agent for test, some of the stuff sent out as pure seed, contained as high as 26 per cent of yellow trefoil. In the stuff offered as pure alfalfa some of it contained as high as 46 per cent, or nearly one-half adulterant. Yellow trefoil and bur clover are used for adulterating alfalfa. The government will aid honest seedsmen to avoid buying adulterated seeds by promptly reporting on any samples sent to the Department of Agriculture.



A very good type of brood mare from a thoroughbred Percheon horse. She is a half breed, and while her legs do not show as clean as they should, her general conformation makes her a first-class brood mare.

SEND THE BOY TO SCHOOL.

Not going to send the boy to an agricultural college next fall because you had no such education yourself? That's a mighty poor excuse. Now right down in the bottom of your heart, are you not afraid that the boy will learn to be a better farmer than you are, and you are not manly enough to be proud of it?

PROTECT YOUR NEIGHBOR.

If the scale has made its appearance in your orchard you should begin spraying at once and never stop until it is subdued. Your neighbor may be working hard to keep his fruit trees in good condition and it is not fair that insects should be allowed to flourish in your orchard to be blown across the fence in your neighbor's trees.

Lambs should be docked when very young, say two or three days old.

At Woodside, Long Island, a man was caught burning 10,000 packages of government seeds. His defense was that he was afraid the chickens might eat them with disastrous results. And still the hoary old "free-seed" fraud goes merrily on.

BID WARMEST WELCOME TO VETERANS OF THE G. A. R.

Booklet Gives Outline of Program for Coming Encampment.

In a booklet which is now being mailed to Indiana posts of the Grand Army of the Republic, there is given not only an outline of the program for the state encampment in Fort Wayne May 22, 23 and 24, but Mayor Hosey, on behalf of the city; President B. Paul Mossman, on behalf of the Commercial club, and Chairman Randall and Secretary Skelton, of the general committee, extend the warmest welcome to the veteran soldiers who are to be Fort Wayne's guests on that occasion.

There is presented also, not only general order, No. 5, issued by Department Commander Brown, of the Indiana G. A. R., giving official notice of the encampment at Fort Wayne, but a mass of other information that will be of interest to those who will attend the encampment.

The Mayor's Welcome.

Mayor Hosey's word of welcome is addressed not only to the various veterans' organizations, but to all other citizens of Indiana, and is as follows:

Mayor's Office, City Hall, Fort Wayne, Ind. To the members of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Woman's Relief Corps, the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, and all other citizens of the state of Indiana, Greeting:

On behalf of the city of Fort Wayne, Indiana, I hereby extend to all a cordial invitation to attend the Twenty-eighth Annual Encampment, Department of Indiana, Grand Army of the Republic to be held at Fort Wayne on May 22, 23 and 24, 1907.

In extending these invitations, I beg to assure all that every effort will be made and no pains spared, by the combined endeavors of the various military and civic organizations, Commercial club and Merchants' association, and the municipal government, to make this event not only a success, but the most memorable affair of the kind in the history of the state of Indiana.

The efforts now being put forth to achieve this result are inspired by a sense of duty and gratitude we of the present generation all owe to the vanishing remnant of that once Grand Army of Veterans, who nearly a half century ago risked and sacrificed health and life to maintain and perpetuate the best government on earth.

It is therefore right and proper to use our best offices and spare no endeavor to do honor to, and make the occasion one of joy and pleasure for the old veterans when they visit our hospitable city.

Trusting this invitation will be generally accepted by all in the spirit in which it is extended, and assuring all our guests a most cordial and pleasant welcome, I am,

Very respectfully,
William J. Hosey, Mayor.

From the Commercial Club.

The Commercial club's expression is equally enthusiastic and cordial. It is as follows:

Commercial Club Rooms, I. O. O. F. Building, Calhoun and Wayne Streets, Fort Wayne, Ind.

To the Veterans of the G. A. R. of Indiana:

The Fort Wayne Commercial club has taken a great interest in the state encampment to be held in our city May 22, 23 to 24. This club, composed of 500 of Fort Wayne's most active and progressive business men, will do everything in its power to help make your visit here pleasant and patriotic and we trust that this encampment of 1907 will be one long to be remembered by you. We have a beautiful city to show you and our people have warm hearts full of respect and admiration for the old soldiers. We trust that during these three days in May you are with us you may greatly enjoy your reunions and your reminiscences.

The Fort Wayne Commercial club extends to you one and all a most hearty invitation to attend this encampment and welcomes you to our city. We consider it a high honor to have you as our guests and we extend to you our most cordial welcome and hospitality.

Yours sincerely,
B. Paul Mossman,
President Fort Wayne Commercial Club.

The Tentative Program.

It is explained that at this early date the program has not been completed, and merely an outline of the various days' attractions can be given. Tuesday, May 21, is to be devoted to the arrival and reception of Department Commander Brown and his staff, the department presidents of the W. R. C and the Ladies of the G. A. R., and other distinguished guests. Continuing the program is as follows:

—Wednesday, May 22.—

10 a. m. Headquarters of the G. A. R. will be opened at the Wayne hotel at which time the delegate badges will be issued by the assistant adjutant general and the committee on credentials.

3 p. m. Meeting of the council of administration G. A. R. to settle up the annual business of the department.

3 p. m. Committee on credentials of the W. R. C. will meet at headquarters, ladies parlor, Wayne hotel.

3 p. m.—Committee on credentials, Ladies of the G. A. R., will meet at their headquarters, Randall hotel, rooms 70 and 71.

8 p. m.—A general reception by the department commander G. A. R. in the public parlor office floor, and department president of the W. R. C. in ladies' parlor, second floor, Wayne hotel. Everybody welcome and cordially invited to attend.

8 p. m.—Reception by the department president of the Ladies of the G. A. R. in parlor A. Randall hotel. Everybody welcome and cordially invited to attend.

—Thursday, May 23.—

Arrival and reception of Commander-in-Chief R. B. Brown and staff.

10 a. m. Department Encampment G. A. R. will convene for the transaction of business at Princess theater, West Main street. Department convention of the W. R. C. at First Baptist church and department convention of the Ladies of the G. A. R. at the Pythian home on Washington boulevard west.

2 p. m. Grand parade of veterans, military and civic societies, Sons of Veterans, United States Spanish War Veterans and the police department of Fort Wayne. Music by the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home band of Knightstown, Ind., and by many other of the best bands over the state.

It is the purpose of the committee that this parade shall eclipse all former parades of this department and will be worth coming a long distance to witness.

4 p. m. Business meeting of the Department Encampment G. A. R. at Princess theater and the W. R. C. at the First Baptist church and the Ladies of the G. A. R. at Pythian home.

7:30 p. m. Camp fires of the Grand Army of the Republic, Women's Relief Corps and Ladies of the G. A. R. will be held at Princess theater and Saengerbund hall, and should there be an overflow the First Baptist church will be used in addition. This will be one of the great features of the encampment.

—Friday, May 24.—

9 a. m. Reassembling of the Department Encampment of the G. A. R. at Princess theater for the election of delegates to the national encampment at Saratoga, and for the election and installation of the department officers for the ensuing year. Also the Ladies of the G. A. R. and the W. R. C. will meet for similar business at their respective places of meeting.

2 p. m. Excursion to Robison park, one of the most beautiful spots in Indiana.

The closing word of the committee is as follows:

In conclusion the committee on behalf of the Grand Army posts and citizens of Fort Wayne extend a most cordial invitation to all the comrades of the Grand Army, ex-soldiers of the civil war not members of the G. A. R., and citizens of Indiana and we will also include Ohio and Michigan in this invitation to attend our encampment the 22d, 23d and 24th of May. There will be no end to the entertainment. Comrades are assured that they will enjoy the one great time of their lives. The old soldiers will be welcomed everywhere. No grip, countersign or permit will be necessary. The little bronze button or badge of Grand Army will be the only passport required. Fort Wayne has ordered locks removed and the latch string hung out. The town is yours, COME.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., April 8.—The wheat market today opened active and strong on a good general demand and light offerings. The absence of rain in Nebraska, where it is said to be badly needed by the crop, was the main strengthening influence. The May and July options were in strong request and advanced sharply. May opened ¼@¾c higher at 76½c to 76⅝c and sold up to 77¼c. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 728 cars against 746 cars last week and 345 cars one year ago.

Trading was quiet in the corn pit, and prices were firm. Cash houses were excellent buyers and the fact that local receipts were considerably below the estimate added strength to the market. May corn opened ¼c higher at 46⅛c to 46¼c and sold at 46⅜c. Local receipts were 270 cars with 4 of contract grade.

The oats market was firm and trading was fairly active. The greatest amount of business was in the July option, May being compartively neglected. May oats opened unchanged to ⅛@¼c higher at 42⅝c to 42¾@42⅞c and sold at 42⅞c. Local receipts were 160 cars.

A fifteen cent decline in the price of live hogs caused a weak market in provisions. Trading was very quiet. May Pork opened 10c lower at $15.25. Lard was down 12½c at $8.65. Ribs were 10c lower at $8.42½.

The Close.

Prices at the close were as follows:

Wheat—May, 77½c; July, 79½c.
Corn—May, 46¼@46⅜c; July, 46⅛@46⅝c.
Oats—May, 42⅝c; July, 38@38¼c.
Pork—May, $15.85; July, $15.92½.
Lard—May, $8.62½; July, $8.75.
Ribs—May, $8.40@8.42½; July, $8.60.
Rye—Cash, 68½@69½c.
Barley—Cash, 60@70c.
Timothy, Clover and Flax—Nothing doing.

Toledo Grain Market.

Toledo, Ohio, April 8.—Opening Prices—Wheat—Cash, 78¼c; May, 79½c; July, 81½c; September, 81¾c.

Corn—May, 46⅜c; July, 47¾c; September, 48¾c.

OIL.

Toledo Market.

Toledo, Ohio, April 8.—North Lima, 94c; South Lima and Indiana, 82c.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, April 8.—Prices of stocks moved irregularly on light dealings in the opening transactions today. Fractional losses were in the majority, a decline of 1¼ in Northern Pacific marking the only full figure in the movement on that side. American Smelting, Anaconda and Kansas City Southern preferred rose a point and New York Central ¾.

A further rise in Smelting to 2 points above Saturday's closing had a strengthening effect on the market and opening losses were recovered. Active selling began at the high rate in the western stocks and specialties, and the market became quite weak. Smelting lost its advance and Northern Pacific and Brooklyn Transit were driven two points under last week's closing, Northwestern 1¾ and Union Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Atchison, Locomotive and Anaconda 1. Support was forthcoming before 11 o'clock and the market rallied sharply. Canadian Pacific advanced 1¾ and Central Railroad of New Jersey 1.

Pennsylvania was prominent in the rally with a rise to 1⅛ over Saturday. Canadian Pacific gained 2¼ and St. Paul 1. Stocks came out again at the higher level and carried prices lower than before. Union Pacific lost 1¾, Great Northern preferred 2, Reading 1½, Amalgamated Copped 1⅜ and Delaware & Hudson, Cleveland, C. C. & St. Louis, American Car, Colorado Fuel, Pressed Steel Car 1. Bonds were irregular.

The selling was more energetic after midday, especially in Reading, Union Pacific and Smelting. The entire market gave way materially in sympathy. Reading's loss reached 2⅝, Chicago Terminal preferred and Pullman 2, Louisville & Nashville 1⅜, Southern Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio 1¼ and New York Central, Pennsylvania, Missouri Pacific, Smelting, the United States Steel stocks and Republic Steel stocks, Peoples Gas, Interborough metropolitan and Distillers Securities 1.

A sharp but incomplete recovery occurred during the afternoon. St. Paul and Smelting were the only stocks that returned to their high morning prices. The rise in the balance of the list halted before the average approached Saturday's level. Burlington sold at an advance of 10 points and Illinois Central and Chicago & Alton 1 and 1¼ respectively.

The market closed dull and rather heavy. The recovery was extended but was not made complete and the market became very dull. St. Louis Southwestern rose 1⅛, American Smelting 2⅝ and Brooklyn Union Gas 5. Southern Railway preferred, Wisconsin Central preferred and Sugar fell 1.

WABASH DOES NOT OWN NOR OPERATE THE W. & L. E.

President F. A. Delano Makes Affidavit to That Effect.

Cleveland, O., April 8.—In answer to a suit against the Wheeling and Lake Erie, Wabash, the Wabash-Pittsburg Terminal and the West Side Belt Railway companies, F. A. Delano, of Chicago, president of these interests, denies that the Wabash has any affiliations with the other roads.

It was alleged in a suit brought by the Automatic Stamping Machine company, that the Wabash operates passenger trains over the line of the Wabash-Pittsburg Terminal.

President Delano declares in reply that the Wabash does not own nor control the Wheeling and Lake Erie, nor does it lease or operate it.

B. A. Worthington, first vice president of the Wheeling and Lake Erie, filed a similar affidavit.

CHANGES AT FREIGHT OFFICE.

Henry A. Zollinger, who resigned as billing clerk at the Pennsylvania freight office last Saturday, to take the position of auditor of express receipts of the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction company, has been succeeded at the freight office by J. A. Zurbaugh. This change has been followed by these promotions: C. H. Algeier to over and short clerk; W. H. Schultz to bill of lading clerk; Albert Lansdown to Fort Wayne bill clerk and R. P. Luley from warehouse clerk to Chicago expense clerk.

Clarence Herber has been employed to take the vacant place in the warehouse office. He is a recent graduate of the St. Mary's Catholic schools and this is his first position.

COLLISION IN THE YARDS.

In a "side swipe" collision in the Nickel Plate yards late Saturday night, Engineer John W. Sanburn sustained severe bruises to his left leg and ankle, which will confine him to his home on Lavina street several days. Switchman Charles Malcolm sustained slight bruises on his body and two engines were damaged so badly that they will be out of commission for a week or two. The other enginemen who were in the cabs of the colliding engines escaped injury.

SHOPMAN HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

H. H. Lerch, a pipefitter at the Pennsylvania shops, had an exciting experience with a fire at his home, out near the Abbott's wells, at 12 o'clock Saturday night. At this hour he was awakened by his daughter, who said the house was afire. Rushing out into the sitting room, Mr. Lerch found the curtains of a window destroyed and the window jams burning lively. He soon put the fire out with water carried in buckets and the loss will not exceed $20. The fire is supposed to have been caused by the explosion of a kerosene lamp, which was burning on a table near the window.

A BLACKSMITH ENTERTAINS.

Theodore Leonard, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop and a resident of New Haven, was the host at a jolly party at his home Saturday evening, the guests being Fort Wayne people and some of them Mr. Leonard's shopmates. They went to New Haven on the interurban car which leaves this city at 7 o'clock, and returned on the car which arrives here at midnight. Music and games served to make the hours pass most pleasantly until 10:30 when supper was served. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Roebuck, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Betts, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Horn, Mr. and Mrs. Steinecker, Mr. and Mrs. Dickerhoefer, Mrs. Coose, Miss Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. Gaskill, Mrs. Mennewisch and Mr. George.

MANAGER WOOD RETURNS.

General Manager J. J. Wood returned from New York Saturday, where he went a week ago to confer with the General Electric people concerning their interests in Fort Wayne. While Mr. Wood's recommendations concerning the proposed factory improvements on Broadway were in the main approved, he informed the Sentinel that the kind of material and method of constructing the buildings has not been fully decided upon. Mr. Wood said, however, that it was quite likely that the buildings would be constructed of steel and brick. The Sentinel several weeks ago stated that these buildings alone would cost upwards of $750,000. Work upon them will be taken up soon.

RETURN OF T. J. RODABAUGH.

T. J. Rodabaugh was a caller at the Pennsylvania shops and offices this morning to see the men with whom he was associated in shop work for a half century. Mr. and Mrs. Rodabaugh returned from California Saturday night, after spending the winter in that country, and they say they never passed a more pleasant winter. They made their headquarters at Long Beach, but visited all points of interest on the Pacific coast and saw many former Fort Wayne people there.

SECTION MEN STILL OUT.

Philip Ehinger, who was the Wabash section foreman at New Haven for a number of years, resigned last Saturday and took a similar position with the Nickel Plate. He was induced to make the change through promise of greater wages. The situation as it affects Wabash section men in this city is unchanged. The force consists of the foreman, Chris Fosler, and there is little prospect of an increase until wages are increased.

CELEBRATED CRYSTAL WEDDING

Bernhardt Deutschman, a varnisher at the Knott-VanArnam factory, and his wife, who reside on High street, celebrated their crystal wedding Saturday evening, assisted by a number of their friends. The presents were numerous and some of them exceedingly pretty and costly. Following a program of music and games came a delicious luncheon.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

H. H. Majors, of the Pennsylvania tank shop, is sick and off duty.

The Knights of Columbus special train over the Wabash carried 239 passengers from this city to Logansport yesterday.

Frank Green, a packer at the Fort Wayne Electric works, resigned this morning to take a position elsewhere.

The G. R. & I took fifty Fort Wayne fishermen to Rome City yesterday. The Sunday special rate went into effect yesterday.

The Railroad Y. M. C. A. board of directors will have their regular monthly meeting tonight.

Mrs. H. C. Proehl, of 2046 Broadway, went to Wanatah today to visit her son, Frank, who is a Nickel Plate telegraph operator.

Jacob Waldschmidt, who had some ribs fractured March 13, was able to resume his duties in the Pennsylvania planing mills this morning.

Dennis Collins, janitor at the Pennsylvania car department offices, is sick and J. A. Watson, of the planing mills, is acting janitor in the meantime.

Stenographer E. F. Thomson, of Master Mechanic G. W. Smith's office at the Wabash, is sick and Don Muirhead is acting stenographer in his stead.

Bert Olds, a construction man in the employ of the Fort Wayne Electric works, has gone to Reed City, Mich., where he will do some work on a power and light plant.

Machinist Joe Noeth resigned a position at the Pennsylvania round house, Saturday night and this morning took a position at the Wabash shops. He was employed at the round house several years.

Foreman J. A. Foster resumed charge of the air brake department of the Pennsylvania shop this morning, after an absence of several weeks on account of sickness.

Mrs. D. D. Miller, whose husband is a Pennsylvania fireman, will leave in a few days for Seattle, Wash., where she will remain several weeks in the hopes of benefiting her health, which has been very poor.

Machinist William Freudeman, who has been employed at the Fort Wayne Electric works for the past eighteen months, has resigned for the purpose of returning to his old home in Akron to work in the shops.

B. Hedekin, of the Pennsylvania, was kept from his duties today by sickness in his family.

Robert Smith, check clerk at the Pennsylvania machine shop, is off duty on account of sickness.

After an illness of two weeks, Charles Seabold resumed work in the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

J. A. Rayl, of the Pennsylvania boiler shops, has recovered from an illness that kept him from work a week.

Ed S. Turner, foreman of the Pennsylvania shops at Alliance, was a visitor in Fort Wayne yesterday.

Boilermaker Andy Yates has recovered from an injury he received a few days ago and this morning reported for work at the Pennsylvania shops.

General Manager A. W. Johnston, of the Nickel Plate, delivered an address at the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Bellevue yesterday. Mr. Johnston takes a big interest in Y. M. C. A. work.

W. E. Hickey resumed his duties in the tool room at the Pennsylvania machine shop this morning. He was sick two months. Frank Hogan, who had an eye injured several days ago, also reported for work at the machine shop this morning.

The Sentinel mentioned the fact a week ago that the Pennsylvania had raised the age limit for applicants for positions from thirty-five to forty-five years and Saturday the official bulletin was received at the different departments where men are hired.

M. H. Culver has a lame wrist and C. I. Hale has an injured thumb and they will be off duty a few days for treatment. Each is a Pennsylvania fireman. Engineers C. F. Keim, J. A. Misner, G. C. Burchard and E. J. Crowley, of the same road, are off duty on account of sickness.

Machinist George Ruppley, of the Pennsylvania shops, has been entertaining his uncle, Emanuel Ruppley, of Marion, for two or three days. Mr. Ruppley, sr., is en route to Cadillac, Mich., where he will engage in the poultry raising business. He had not seen his nephew for twenty years.

Some time this week Engineer W. A. Parvin, of the Pennsylvania, and his wife, will leave for Lincoln, Neb., where they will stop a week or two with relatives. Fireman and Mrs. E. S. Hoffman have arranged for a visit with relatives at Mansfield, Ohio, and will also leave the latter part of the week.

H. M. Pence resigned his position at the Wabash shops this morning and will take a position at the Organ factory. Ed Wagner and J. Meyers also resigned positions at the Wabash shops this morning. J. D. Forbes, C. F. Miller and E. Wilson are new men at the Wabash shops.

The jurisdiction of Carpenters' union, No. 232, has been extended to include the surrounding towns where there are no unions. This includes Huntington and Kendallville. The first named had a union some time ago, but it went to pieces and the five union men there will join the Fort Wayne union.

Conductor David Watterson, of the Nickel Plate, who was in the hands of an oculist two weeks for removal of a growth upon his left eye, has recovered sufficiently to resume work.

Two trains loaded with United States soldiers and running as second and third sections of Nickel Plate train No. 3, passed through the city yesterday evening.

Charles McElfatrick, machinist at the Pennsylvania shops, has been advised of the removal of his mother, Mrs. Curtice, from the hospital in Indianapolis, to her home in that city, and that she is making rapid progress towards recovery. It will be remembered that Mrs. Curtice was run down by a team of horses on the streets of Indianapolis last week and severely injured.

A box of cigars, open to all callers, rested upon Sherman Faye's desk at the Wabash draughting room this morning. The occasion for this liberality is the arrival of a baby girl at the Faye home last Saturday.

Frank Donivan, shipping clerk for the Fort Wayne Supply company, is very sick at the home of his father, Conductor John Donivan, of the Pennsylvania.

Melville Johnson and William Stahlhut secured employment at the Pennsylvania lumber yards this morning.

The Pennsylvania pay car arrives here on the evening of the 18th instead of the 19th, as published last week. It remains here over Sunday, leaving Monday morning, April 22.

R. W. Shaw and F. O. Langhor, who were injured a few days ago, reported for duty at the Pennsylvania shop this morning.

President McArdle and Vice President Williams, of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Tin and Steel Workers, were the guests at a joint meeting Saturday evening of locals Nos. 14 and 17. The two grand officers are making a visit to all of the subordinate lodges and from this city they went to Muncie yesterday. Mr. McArdle resided in Fort Wayne a year or two ago and worked at the Rolling mills before he was elected to his present office.

James C. Chamberlain, a janitor at the Pennsylvania erecting shop, was discovered in an unconscious condition Saturday evening between the tracks near the Lafayette street crossing. He was taken to St. Joseph hospital, where it was discovered that his right shoulder blade was broken. There were other marks on his body, indicating that he had not been struck by a train. It is believed that Mr. Chamberlain had an attack of vertigo and fell, striking the shoulder against a steel rail and causing the fracture. Mr. Chamberlain is sixty-three years old and a veteran of the war of the rebellion. He has been employed in the shops many years.

WAS AT FORT SUMPTER.

Charleston, N. C., April 8.—Rev. John Johnson, D. D., LL. D., rector emeritus of St. Phillips church, major of engineers in charge at Fort Sumter during the siege of the sixties, and author of "The Defense of Fort Sumter" and other historical works, died last night at the age of 78 years. He left a widow and several sons and daughters.

BOWSER'S LOVE NOTES

Wife Reads Some of His Gushy Missives of Long Ago.

HE CALLS THEM FORGERIES.

Incident Breaks Up What Promises to Be an Evening of Happiness and Contentment—She Proves He Was Like Other Swains.

[Copyright, 1907, by C. H. Sutcliffe.]

The wind was howling and the snowflakes flying as the Bowser family sat down the other evening—he to his cigar and newspaper and Mrs. Bowser to her book—and for half an hour the cat purred in contentment on the hearth and peace reigned supreme. Then Mr. Bowser laid aside his paper and exclaimed:

"By George, I wish every one in this world was as happy and contented as we are tonight! This is home, Mrs. Bowser, the sort of home every man pictures to himself when he marries, but which seldom comes to any man. We can sit here and have no feeling of envy or enmity toward any human being."

"It pleases me to know that you are satisfied," she replied.

"Satisfied? Why, I would be a barbarian not to be satisfied. I don't think there is another woman in the world who tries harder to make home what it ought to be."

"Thank you, dear."

"There are times when I kick and grumble and say things I shouldn't, but don't you forget that all you do is appreciated to the fullest extent. I sometimes want to kick myself for being the old crank I am. Hereafter when I am in one of my tantrums don't pay any attention to what I say."

"THIS IS HOME, MRS. BOWSER."

Overcome by Remorse.

Mrs. Bowser saw that the conversation was leading to perilous paths and would have been glad to check or turn it. Every wife knows that a husband who gets a good fit on is just as dangerous as when in a fault finding mood. He is apt to overdo it. She spoke about the price of meat going up again without any seeming cause for it, but Mr. Bowser didn't care if chuck steak went up to a dollar a pound. Remorse was gnawing at his heart, and he wanted to set himself right.

"How mean of me to want to take this cat's life!" he sighed as he bent over and stroked the animal's back. "Had I succeeded in killing him it would have been almost as bad as murder. Right here and now, Mrs. Bowser, I promise you never to thirst for his gore again."

"I see by the papers that Taft says he will take the presidential nomination if the people seem to want him to," she said in answer.

"I don't care two brass pins for Taft and his ambitions. I'll take the nomination myself in the same way. As a matter of fact, I have been an old kicker around this house and am sorry for it. Has a husband any right to kick about the gas bills? Does his wife burn the gas to spite him? Does she burn the coal for the same reason? If a water pipe bursts, is she to blame? A month ago a boy threw a snowball and broke a window. I came home and fairly bowled over it and laid all the blame on to you. One night two weeks ago I found a potato on the front steps. I entered the house with it in my hand and lectured you for half an hour on your extravagance, and then it turned out that a boy had hit the door with the tuber. Mrs. Bowser, I don't deserve as good a wife as you are."

"You are simply a little impulsive and impatient at times."

"It is sweet and kind and nice of you to say that, but I know and feel that I am little less than a criminal. However, I am going to make a complete change in myself. From and after this date if I so much as give you a cross look I hope the whole neighborhood will turn out to give me a coat of tar and feathers."

Mrs. Bowser wiped away a tear of wifely gladness, the cat set up a new purr of satisfaction, and Mr. Bowser swallowed at the lump in his throat and picked up his paper again. The calamity might have been averted had his eye not lighted upon an article that had escaped his attention before. He read it over twice and then struck the stand a blow with his fist and exclaimed:

"By thunder, that man ought to be sent up for life!"

"What is it?" asked Mrs. Bowser.

"It's a man in Chicago trying to divorce his wife. He says he was hypnotized into marrying her, but she shows over a hundred love letters from him. By the way, that makes me think. Did I write you any love letters while we were engaged?"

Her Grave Mistake.

Mrs. Bowser should have promptly lied about it and said no. She ought to have known that nothing on earth will provoke a husband, no matter how good he is, like the sight of one of his silly old effusions. Indeed, she did know it; but, on the contrary, she had carefully saved every one and had a wifely as well as a womanly pride in them. She therefore after a moment's hesitation answered:

"I believe you wrote me two or three."

"I hardly think so. I was not one of the mushy sort. After I had told you that I loved you and wanted you to be my wife that settled things. Did I gush in any of the brief notes I sent you?"

"Some of your brief notes were six page letters."

"No! Never!"

"I can't say that you gushed. You called me an angel and said you could not live without me."

Mr. Bowser flushed up and laughed without mirth and asked to see any such letter and added:

"Come, now, let's see if I was as bad as the rest of them. I'd take my dying oath that I never wrote a word of love, but perhaps I've forgotten. Just bring down three or four of the letters and we will laugh over them."

"But you'll—you'll get mad."

"Nonsense! Why should I get mad over something that happened twenty years ago?"

She went upstairs after the letters, and Mr. Bowser felt a change taking place within him. When Mrs. Bowser came down with three or four letters in her hand he laughed in an uneasy way and said:

"Behold the proofs in your breach of promise suit! Now, then, read away."

"And you won't—won't?"—

"Go ahead."

"Well, here's a letter beginning 'My little darling of a bluebell angel.' When I got it"—

"I deny that it begins that way!" shouted Mr. Bowser as the scarlet came to his face.

Then Trouble Began.

"But you can read for yourself. I don't see why you should be ashamed of it. Here is one in which you say: 'Heaven has no angel compared to thee. If anything should happen to you I'd hang myself within an hour, for life to me would be nothing.'"

"By the jumping Jericho, Mrs. Bowser, do you want to make out that I was the biggest ass in America at twenty-three?" he shouted.

"Of course not. You loved me, and you talked and wrote like all young men in love. It was awfully sweet and nice of you. In this letter here you say that you have not eaten or slept for three days and nights for thinking of me. I cried when I read the words."

"I wrote that mushy stuff, did I?"

"Yes, and here you say that if we should quarrel and I should look upon you coldly you would blow your brains out."

"Never! Never in this living world did I write such stuff!"

"But you can see for yourself. You don't deny your own handwriting, do you?"

"I do! I hereby declare these letters base forgeries!"

"Why, dear, how can you talk that way? If you were in love with me, why shouldn't you write this way?"

"Mrs. Bowser," he said as he rose up in awful majesty, "I planned for an evening of happiness and contentment. I felt that you were a true helpmeet, and I praised you. I praised our home. It made you envious to see me happy, and you brought down those forged letters to make me feel bad. You have accomplished your base purpose. You have wrecked my evening. Good night to you."

"But where are you going?"

"Never you mind. I have been stricken down by the knife of the assassin, and you can grin and chuckle and enjoy your triumph."

And with that he stalked down the hall, threw on his hat and overcoat and passed out into the night and walked away. At the corner a tramp asked him for 10 cents to pay for lodgings, and a policeman two blocks away heard a roar, a yell of terror and the sound of flying feet. He hastened up, but all he could learn was from a small boy, who said:

"A bloke come along, and de tramp asked him for some sugar, and de bloke roared, and de tramp screamed, and de way dey went down Plum street beat de subway express all to squash." M. QUAD.

Government Homesteads

In southeastern Colorado, where blizzards and hot winds are unknown, where you can enjoy the beautiful sunshine and bracing air 300 days out of the year, where cattle and sheep range all the year round and deep snow and zero weather are unknown.

This land is located along the Missouri Pacific railroad and near the town of Haswell, which will in time be a terminal division, as all trains now take water and coal at this place.

Water can be obtained at a depth of from 15 to 40 feet.

Like the land located by our forefathers in Indiana, can be had at the present time by paying a government fee of $16.85 and living upon it for eight months. If you ever intend to own a home of your own or wish to make any provision for your children, why not take advantage of this opportunity, for the days of homestead and cheap land will soon pass.

There will be an excursion which will take you to Haswell, Colo., April 16.

Quit paying rent and own a farm of your own.

Quit working for someone who robs you of your produce and calls it rent.

Join us on the 16th of April.

Be sure and see me in time, so that I may make arrangements for your tickets to take you on up to the beautiful cities of Denver and Colorado Springs without extra charge.

The round-trip railroad ticket will cost you $32.15. It is worth that amount to see this beautiful country, and you can't see it without owning a part of it.

Post A, Travelers Protective association, is preparing a big rally for Friday and Saturday of this week for the purpose of stimulating enthusiasm in the work and to increase the already large membership. State and national officers of the association are expected to attend, and an excellent program has been provided for the entertainment of the visitors.

A false alarm of fire was turned in by a young man Saturday night at the corner of Berry and Court streets, and the department hurriedly responded. The alarm was in good faith, however, and as a passer-by, seeing smoke emerge from the Evans building, thought it was on fire, and gave the alarm. The young man standing near the fire box sent in the signal.

Hoseman Henry Guth and Louis Hensel, of the Central fire station, were rather severely injured in the run to the fire in the Queen restaurant Saturday afternoon. The hose wagon on which they were riding struck a car rail on Main street, and Guth was thrown into the street, and Hensel was bruised by being thrown against the brass railing on the wagon.

A RELIABLE STRENGTH CREATOR

Vinol is the latest scientific production of the greatest tonic rebuilder the world has ever known, namely, cod liver oil.

In Vinol the useless, system-clogging, nauseating oil is eliminated, and the medicinal, curative elements known to exist in the cod's liver are administered in a highly concentrated form, with tonic iron added.

This is why Vinol is so strongly recommended by physicians and guaranteed by over five thousand of the leading druggists of the United States as a body-builder and strength creator for old people, weak women, puny children, after sickness, and for all pulmonary diseases. The doctor knows what he is taking.

Vinol is sold on a guarantee that it is and will do all that is claimed for it, or money will be returned without question. Meyer Brothers Co., druggists. Two Big Stores.

Note.—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Fort Wayne, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

PIMPLES

"I tried all kinds of blood remedies which failed to do me any good but I have found the right thing at last. My face was full of pimples and blackheads. After taking Cascarets they all left. I am continuing the use of them and recommending them to my friends. I feel fine when I rise in the morning. Hope to have a chance to recommend Cascarets."

District Meeting of K. of P. Will Bring Big Crowd.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the entertainment of the guests that will attend the district meeting of the Knights of Pythias in this city April 16. Fully fifteen hundred members are expected to be in attendance at the meeting. A meeting will be held Tuesday night at which time further plans for the work will be discussed. Colonel Jones, of Kendallville, has been invited to attend with his regiment of the uniformed rank of this district. The afternoon and evening sessions will be held in the Majestic theater.

HENS BUSY LAST WEEK.

Local Egg Receipts Were Heavy—One House Bought 15,000 Dozen.

Saturday was the heaviest day in the history of Fort Wayne so far as egg receipts were concerned, according to the way James B. White, of the White Fruit House, thinks. Nearly 15,000 dozen eggs were received at that establishment alone, and represented a cash valuation of about $2,500. The eggs were brought directly by the farmers from all parts of the county, and were the results of the industry of the national fowl for the past week alone.

FARMER IS INJURED.

Rudolph Beckman, a farmer living about ten miles south of the city, was injured in a runaway on Hanna street Saturday afternoon. His horses became frightened at the approach of a street car, and he was unable to control them. The car hit the wagon, and Mr. Beckman was thrown from his seat, and becoming entangled in the lines, was drawn along the pavement for some distance. He was taken to the residence of Dr. Morgan and his injuries were dressed.

Do you use an atomizer in treating Nasal Catarrh? Then you will appreciate Ely's Liquid Cream Balm, the mildest, quickest, surest remedy for this disease. In all curative properties it is identical with the solid Cream Balm, which is so famous and so successful in overcoming Catarrh, Hay Fever and Cold in the head. There is relief in the first dash of spray upon the heated sensitive air-passages. All druggists, 75c., including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren St., N. Y.
